TROOPS KILL EIGHT MEN IN BANDIT GANG

Death Toll in Robbery of Guadalajara-Mexico City Express Is Placed at 14
REGAIN PART OF LOOT

Two Americans, First Reported Slain by Outlaws, Now Are Declared Safe

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 12.—Full information on the holdup and burning of a Mexico City-Guadalajara train and the slaying of many passengers was asked by the state department in a cable to American Consul Dudley Dwyre, at Guadalajara.

The department previously had cabled for information on the reported slaying of Robert C. Russell, Marysville, Va., a passenger on the train, with another American citizen, neither of whom was molested.

FEDERAL TROOPS KILL EIGHT TRAIN ROBBERS

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 12.—Eight of the robbers who held up the Guadalajara-Mexico City Express at Negrete have been killed by federal forces under General Torres, the war office announced today.

Part of the loot they took from Mexican passengers has been recovered.

Apparently 14 dead is the total death toll in the holdup of the express, according to latest advices here, and these were guards.

Bandits Travel On Train

The holdup, one of the most daring in the history of Mexico, was staged by a group of 15 men, who were traveling in disguise aboard the express.

Robert Russell, a Virginia man engaged in Mexican mining, was one of those who escaped and he declares that the only possibility that any persons were burned alive in the fire was that a woman who fainted had perished.

The story of the holdup, as pieced together here today from the story of Russell and from other sources, runs thus:

Act on Leader's Signal

The bandits aboard the train went into action upon a signal from their leader. Each one singled out his man and fired. Then the bandits killed a man and woman who, it is alleged, had warned General Ferrera, Jalisco commander, to leave the train one station ahead of the attacking point. The two alleged traitors had cheated the holdup men of their chief prey, for they wanted to kill Ferrera.

Guards on the train were stripped of their arms. Then the bandits began plundering the train, taking away arms and money.

JURIST ATTACKS BOARD OF PAROLE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—The San Quentin parole board was vigorously flayed by Superior Judge Charles Burnell, in passing sentence today on Harold E. Curtis, convicted of writing worthless checks.

"I will not send a man to San Quentin," the judge said, "because he will do more time in the county jail than he would at the prison."

"If a man happens to have some influential friends who will communicate with the prison board, they will doubtless let him out."

"However, that is not my fault—I can send them there and if that bunch of politicians wants to turn them loose, I am powerless to prevent it."

The court sent Curtis to the county jail for a year in lieu of imprisonment at San Quentin.

Inspect Books of Aluminum Concern

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Justice department agents are inspecting all the books of the Aluminum Company of America, owned by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, in search for any "trust" competition evidence with consent of the company.

General William G. Donovan told the Wash. committee today.

Donovan said that A. V. Davis, president of the company, agreed to permit agents to inspect all work sheets and files of his organization.

This inspection began in November and is still continuing, Donovan said.

WILHELM GOES UNDER KNIFE AND RECOVERS

(By United Press)

DOORN, Holland, Jan. 12.—That the former kaiser had undergone a successful operation on his ear last week leaked out here today from behind the gates of Doorn castle.

Subsequently the kaiser caught a slight cold and is still suffering from that.

(Inquiry at Doorn developed the above facts, following the death of Professor von Helmer, of Berlin, who was stricken after attending Wilhelm and died in a Utrecht hospital.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—With a full membership present, the house began consideration today of the six foreign debt settlements. The settlement with Italy, reached by the American funding commission, was the first one to be taken up.

Representative Crisp, Georgia, Democrat, member of the commission, opened debate by "presenting the commission's side," urging approval.

Crisp reviewed the negotiations and told the house that he had "no secrets to conceal."

BRITISH PROTEST ON MEXICAN LAW

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Great Britain has instructed its envoy at Mexico City to make representations against the new Mexican oil and land laws, insofar as they affect foreigners.

The instructions called for the delivery of a note to the Mexican foreign office along lines similar to the protest already lodged by the United States.

Britain, like America, has vast oil and land interests in Mexico, which might be adversely affected by operation of the new laws.

INCREASED AUTO USE HELD BIG BENEFIT TO RAILROADS

(By United Press)

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Increased use of motor vehicles and expansion of the hard road system throughout the nation have increased the earnings of all standard railroads, C. H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central railroad, declared today in an address before the convention of the American Road Builders' association.

Markham scoffed at the popular belief that motor transportation threatens to endanger the financial standing of the railroads.

"When we take into consideration the extensive traffic derived by the railroads from the transportation of road-building materials and equipment, automobiles, gasoline and allied products, we can feel," Markham said, "that the railroads have gained more than they have lost through the development of highway transportation."

FERRIDAY, La., Jan. 12.—A disastrous fire swept an entire block here today, destroyed two hotels and several other business houses and caused the deaths of at least 10 persons.

Most of the dead were guests at the Johnson and Vannoy hotels and it was in the ruins of these buildings that firemen searched for more bodies.

Only three of the 10 bodies recovered have been identified. The others being burned so badly that identification was impossible, at least until a thorough check of the hotel guests was completed.

The identified dead were a man named Keen and his 18-year-old son, of Alabama, and another named Ezel, employed in a grocery store which was destroyed by the fire.

A number of the guests at the two hotels have not yet been accounted for.

Twenty guests of the hostels were removed to hospitals, to be treated for burns and other injuries suffered while escaping from the buildings.

The property loss is approximately $100,000.

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—The Soviet government has decided definitely to participate in the preliminary disarmament conference at Geneva, providing a settlement of Russo-Swiss relations can be achieved in the meantime.

The supreme court held the Somerton ordinance was class legislation because it exempted certain classes of business.

RECORDS FOR COUNTY FEES ARE BROKEN

Filing Receipts Greatest Of Any Year, with Total $50,081, Report Shows

1923 MARK EXCEEDED

Documents to Number of 35,775 Are Handled During Twelve Months

(By United Press)

TERMIN OF BUSINESS activity, as generally regarded, the county recorder's office proves that 1925 was the best business year of Orange county's history, even surpassing the "big year" of 1923.

Figures made public by County Recorder Justine Whitney today, show that the year's receipts amounted to $50,081.30, while the number of documents handled was 35,775. These totals smash all records, the best previous year being 1923, with $48,823.45 in receipts and 34,485 representing the number of documents handled.

Steady Growth Indicated Although there was no unusual number of oil leases, as during 1923, and there were fewer realty subdivisions placed on record, the year 1925 saw a steady, normal growth in practically all lines of activity that touch the recorder's office, according to Miss Whitney.

In her opinion, the year's record indicates that the county is in a period of natural, healthy prosperity, greater than ever before.

Much activity in real estate was evident from the great number of leases recorded during the year, she said.

Comparative figures relating to receipts and volume of documents disclose the remarkable growth of the county during the past decade, Miss Whitney stated.

From 1915, when she became recorder, to 1925, the receipts of her office increased from $16,965.95 to $50,081.30, while the number of documents increased from 16,235 to 35,775.

Real Increase Not Shown The latter figures fail to show the real increase, she said, because in 1915 the office records included the records of births and deaths. These vital statistics are not now handled in the numbered records.

Receipts and number of documents for the last three years were:

Year	Receipts	Documents
1923	$48,823.45	34,485
1924	$44,237.45	32,563
1925	$50,081.30	35,775

Operators professed not to have any plans for the future in the strike situation, excepting to "sit tight."

One informed source told the United Press that he "did not believe the idea of reopening the mines without a settlement of the strike would occur to a single operator."

Film Sheik's Spouse Meets Divorce Snag

(By United Press)

PARIS, Jan. 12.—The divorce action of Natacha Rambova against her film sheik husband, Rudolph Valentino, ran into legal tangling here today. The developments of the Seine tribunal's examination of the case, however, made it almost certain that she would win a divorce soon.

Letters were produced before the tribunal showing that the film actor had notified his wife of his determination to break definitely with her. In view of this showing, the court found no difficulty as to "fact," but did encounter difficulty as to the question of "law," inasmuch as Valentino is deemed still an Italian subject.

If it were found that, under Italian law, Mrs. Valentino had become an Italian by her marriage to Rudolph, then a divorce could not be granted her—but merely a separation.

The public prosecutor, however, took the position that the wife should be granted a divorce, holding that the husband alone was at fault in the breach. He argued that the wife was subject to the laws of the state of Indiana (where the marriage occurred), which allow of divorce. Likewise, it was contended that, under the Cable act, Mrs. Valentino retained her American nationality rights.

This argument made it appear probable that Natacha would obtain the decree.

"His argument was so verbose and flowery I didn't have the heart to punish him," Chief Kelly said.

MEET DELAY IN FORMATION OF WATER DISTRICT

Protests from certain property owners, who object to having their property included within the proposed district, forced a delay today to formation of the Garden Grove water district, known as Orange County Water Works district No. 3.

The supervisors were expected to set a new date this afternoon for the postponed hearing, in view of the certainty that changes would be made in the boundary lines of the district.

Attorney H. C. Head, representing proponents of the district, told the board that his clients would have no objection to the exclusion of one set of protesting property owners, and possibly both. There were two protesting petitions filed. A third petition was filed by property owners who wanted their land included.

R. A. Oldfield and Edward Chaffey, who signed one protest, asked that their lands, along the western boundary of the district, be excluded. A. T. Dungan and Mrs. Mary I. Thompson, residing near the northern boundary, also wanted exclusion of their property. H. E. Newsom, Mary Newsom and E. M. Newsom petitioned for inclusion of their property, comprising five acres.

Head informed the board that if changes were made in the boundaries, the board must publish notice of such changes at least 10 days before the date of the adjourned hearing. This legal provision is expected to delay formation of the district at least two weeks.

Dismisses Charge

Justice K. E. Morrison today dismissed a charge of assault with a deadly weapon in the case of Harry S. Coleman, who was accused of threatening Arthur Williams with a piece of gas pipe.

Williams said the threatened attack occurred when he came to Coleman and demanded compensation for damage to a fender of his car, which collided with Coleman's car. In court today, however, he failed to satisfy Justice Morrison that any crime had been committed.

Attorney Charles D. Swanner defended Coleman at today's hearing.

DICE USED BY MAIDS

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Maids, who have been in domestic service in one family in Guildford, Surrey, for two years or more, are invited to apply for the "Maids' Money," which, according to an old custom, is to be allocated by the throwing of dice.

The attempted robbery occurred at 3 o'clock last Wednesday morning, on East First street, within a few paces of the place, where, a few weeks before, a maniac shot and killed Carl H. Kaufmann, prominent Santa Ana business man.

No report of the attempted holdup was made to city or county officers, by Hall, the intended victim, for reasons of his own.

Hall resides in Tustin and goes to his place of business at approximately the same hour every morning. Shortly before 3 o'clock, he started for Santa Ana, carrying with him approximately $500 in cash and checks, the receipts from his business for several days, which he said he had not deposited in the bank.

According to his story, he was driving towards Santa Ana when he saw a man in the center of the road, and another on the side of the road. The man in the road signalled for Hall to stop. Instead, the driver speeded up his machine and passed directly between the supposed holdup men, narrowly missing the man in the road. Hall said he was so sure he had struck the man in the road that he put his head out of the window and looked back.

As he did so, a shot rang out, a bullet piercing the rear window, edging in the frame work of the top of the coupe, directly over his head. Another bullet struck the rear of the machine, high up, and passed out of the window near Hall's head. Another shot, apparently went wild. A fourth shot, fired after the machine had gone a considerable distance from the man with the gun, struck the car in the rear, near the spare tire. Its force was not great enough to pierce the metal, and it merely caused a dent.

Hall said that he remembered distinctly hearing the fourth bullet hit the rear end.

Hall is of the opinion that the men knew he made the early morning trips to the bakery, and that, possibly, they knew that he was carrying a considerable sum of money with him at the time.

The boy is said to be driving an old machine, a description of which was given local authorities.

The WELL DRESSED MAN
By BEAUNASH
Corrects Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

OUR NATIONAL EVENING SUIT
Other days—other ways! Americans, at one time most averse to assuming evening dress, are now more eager to wear it. What, it may be asked, has brought about this notable and agreeable change? It has been effected through the realization that the supposed stiffness and constraint of "snappy linen and lanky worsted" are not in the garment, but in the mind. Only he who puts on evening clothes occasionally and unwillingly feels ill-at-ease in them. The man who forms the courtly habit of "dressing for the evening" quickly discovers that, far from causing discomfort, black-and-white have a refreshing and re-energizing influence upon the wearer. He seems to lay aside the cares of the day with daytime clothes. He absorbs the spirit of gay and gracious leisure, of what has been aptly termed—

Life's softer moments. He moves, and with winged feet if he dances. In a more rarified atmosphere than that of chasing what Washington Irving dubbed the Almighty Dollar, "that great object of universal devotion throughout the land."

The antiquated notion was to regard correct dress as a drudgery and a penalty. The emancipated idea is to look upon it as a pleasure and a privilege. It fosters the polite amenities and the social graces; for, as Philip Massinger, the English dramatist, wrote without good company all dainties lose their true relish and, like painted grapes, they are only seen, not tasted.

Much of the added esteem in which modern clothes are held comes from the softness and lightness of the woollens and from the general adoption of the single front button on the dinner jacket to afford a mere anchorage without binding. Then, too, the so-called athletic or deep-cut armholes upon one's waistcoat have done much to make this all-important garment feel free-and-easy. Furthermore, the re-introduction of the pleated-bosom shirt with its semi-soft effect contributes appreciably to comfort.

Notwithstanding the periodical attempts to revive the double-breasted dinner jacket, the single-breasted model, as pictured in the accompanying sketch, is yet first in favor. Though this is shown with the shawl collar, the peaked-lapel style commends itself more to young men. The front is rounded off; the shoulders are natural; the sides are slightly flared to the figure; the back vent is omitted. The jacket is roundabout 30 inches long. The silk-lined trousers measure 20 inches at the knee and 18 inches at the bottom.

LITTLE CHANCE SEEN TO ALTER VOLSTEAD LAW

By C. B. DODDS
Special Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Although Mr. John W. Public is making more noise over Volstead modification right now than ever before and even though Mr. Public's representatives in congress are talking louder and with a firmer tone along modification lines than they have ever dared assume before, there is small likelihood of any change in prohibition modification this year. Should there be any Californians expecting a tilting of the lid before long, they should put those hopes behind them.

Even the ardent "wets" admit that. They concede that the struggle hold the "dry" have on congress is still there—mayhap slipping a little, but nevertheless strong enough to put down any insurrection.

Congressman Kahn, who has just returned from the congressional committee in favor of modification, realizes there is no hope of immediate relief. In fact, she is more pessimistic than some of the others, inasmuch as she puts the date of modification some years distant and is inclined to the opinion that the "wets" are unwise in endeavoring to make an issue of the matter at this session, lacking assurance of sufficient strength to make a victory certain.

Strong Dry Political Machine.
The United States has never before known a political machine as strong and as well organized as is that of the Anti-Saloon league. It is sitting in the saddle and proposes to stay there until ousted off. It not only controls a majority in congress, but controls the administrative staff dealing with prohibition. It is true that this hold on the prohibition unit has been weakened since the successive slaps on the wrist given Prohibition Commissioner Hays, but the higher prohibition enforcers still bend the knee when Wayne Wheeler walks in the door. It is no doubt just that they should, for Wheeler is reported to receive the same salary as the president of the United States—$75,000 a year.

The first struggle hold the "drys" have on the 50-odd modification bills in the house judiciary committee. That committee is so packed with "dry" that when all are present the dust in the air resembles a New England snow storm. Chairman Graham is politically "wet," but he is powerless in the hands of the committee majority. Most of the house leaders are likewise "wet."

"Nick" Longworth favors modification, so does Tilson, the Republican floor leader, and Chairman Snell, of the powerful rules committee, and so do a host of members in private, but the spectre of the "dry" machine ready to lay them out the minute they say so openly is more than they can stand.

Judiciary Committee Dry.
Out of the whole number of 23 members of the house judiciary committee, only six are listed or are even claimed by the "wets." This is a shining example of the why of Mr. Wheeler's $75,000 a year salary, for it is through the house judiciary committee that any act dealing with prohibition must emerge before the house itself can get at it.

The one ray of hope the new year can bring to the modificationists is the fact that the New York Anti-Saloon league has at least conceded that the nation cannot be made good against its will by legislation. The same concession has had to be made since the ages by those who in history have tried to force dogma down the throats of the populace, but it is nevertheless refreshing to the modificationists to note this confession from the league. The league, therefore, plans a campaign of education and will present an exhibit in New York City soon to bolster up the case of Volsteadism. It is being advertised as the greatest educational exhibition ever given in the American people and that several hundred thousand dollars will be spent.

Clear sledding for the reapportionment bill, which will mean three new congressmen for California and one new member for Washington state, is believed possible with the assurance given Congressman Barbour, of Fresno, author of the bill, that the Republican organization in the house will not oppose it. Barbour got this assurance direct from Republican Leader Tilson.

Angelus Temple Evangelist Will Make World Tour

Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor-evangelist of Angelus temple, left yesterday afternoon on a world tour of evangelism. She was accompanied by her daughter, Roberta, going direct to New York from where she will sail for Ireland, the home of her missionary husband, Robert Semple, who died while engaged in mission work in China several years ago.

After a series of mass meetings in the old country, Mrs. McPherson will journey to the Holy Land and will visit scenes made sacred in history.

This is Mrs. McPherson's second trip around the world and she will be absent several months.

BELIEVE WOMAN SEVERELY HURT IN AUTO CRASH

An unknown woman was believed to have been seriously hurt yesterday morning, before daylight, when the automobile in which she was riding crashed into the rear of the machine driven by S. Charles Lee, 531 Petroleum Securities building, Los Angeles, on First street, in Tustin, according to a report made late yesterday at the sheriff's office by Lee.

Lee reported that he stopped his machine at the corner to read a road sign and when he did, another car, crashed into him.

He claimed in the report that the persons in the other machine gave him a fictitious Los Angeles address and names and that a woman was injured.

A check of the hospitals in the county failed to find any trace of the woman.

DRUG STORE COWBOY BURGLAR IS LATEST

Sheriff Sam Jernigan and his deputies are confronted with a new species of burglar, other than the "rug" and the "bicycle" type. Their latest quest is for a "drug store cowboy" burglar, who last night cut a screen in a rear window, entered the home of Alex C. Buffington, Prospect avenue, Orange, and stole, among other articles, a powder compact, a beauty pin, a can of theatrical cream and a bottle of perfume.

The entire house was ransacked and many articles of more value than those taken were overlooked, according to a report made by Sheriff Jernigan, who investigated.

Other articles reported as taken by the intruder were a pink pearl necklace, gold necklace and locket, bar pin, three dozen eggs, bracelet, felt hat, pen-holder with gold tip, gold pencil, pair of socks and pillow slip.

PROTEST FORMING OF CEMETERY AREA

Claiming to represent a majority percentage of the land west of Brookhurst avenue, near Stanton, property owners led by P. A. Stanton, of Seal Beach, appeared before the board of supervisors today with a protest against inclusion of their lands within the proposed Anaheim cemetery district.

Hearing on the proposal to create the district was set for today before the supervisors. Intervening matters, however, delayed consideration of the cemetery district until this afternoon.

Attorney Charles D. Swanner, of Santa Ana, was retained to represent the protesting property owners at the hearing. The Stanton farmers declare that they are too far removed from the vicinity of Anaheim to be included in an Anaheim cemetery district.

FAIL TO REACH AGREEMENT ON SITE LOCATION

Because of the failure of the school trustees of the newly organized Brea-Olinda high school district to agree upon any particular site for the new $300,000 high school plant, the matter of selecting a site will be left to the voters of the district at a public election, it was announced today by R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools.

At a special meeting, held yesterday, four of the members, A. H. Brown, G. W. Cullen, H. E. Becker and Newton Williams, favored the so-called "Birch street" site, when the remaining fifth member, W. D. Shaffer, held out for what is designated as the Hambleton site.

The California school law provides that in the selection of a high school site, the trustees must agree unanimously, otherwise the matter will be taken direct to the voters at an election.

The board met today again at a regular meeting for the purpose of certifying such locations as should be voted upon at a special election, to be called by Superintendent Mitchell.

In this connection, it was added by the county school executive that an election will be called within the prescribed time limit. He urged that voters of the district, who as yet have not renewed their registrations, do so at once to enable them to vote at the coming election.

Dangerous Cough—How to End it

To quickly and a dangerous cough there is a very simple treatment which gives almost instant relief and often breaks the cough entirely in 24 hours. This treatment is based on the famous Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You take just one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but also loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of the coughing. So the worst cough usually disappears quickly.

Dr. King's New Discovery is for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Fine for children, too—no harmful drugs. Very economical, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

Clever Speaker Gives Zest to Program of Business Session

Everyone knows—and quotes the famous Gillet Burgess quatrain about the purple cow, but I would adapt it and say instead:

"So few celebrities I've found, In fact, I seldom see one. With Alma Whitaker around, I'd rather see than be one."

This is all since hearing that amazing clever person yesterday afternoon when she held nearly 300 of the county's most intelligent women, absolutely spell-bound with her rapier-like wit and her amusing impersonations, as she related "Indiscreet Gossip about Celebrities" at the January business meeting of the Ebell society. "Oh that all business meetings might be like that one!" breathed one devout worshiper at the Whitaker shrine, and all who heard, sighed a heart-felt "amen!"

It really was a remarkably interesting affair, from start to finish, for the whirlwind start given by the distinguished speaker, seemed to affect the business session so that it went with a spirit and zest that made the usually more-or-less uninteresting details of club expenditures and business affairs, seem quite as fascinatingly worthy of attention, as—say—"The Green Hat" which Mrs. Whitaker characterized so ruthlessly as written solely for women.

Mrs. S. W. Stanley presided with her usual poise and ability and introduced the speaker in a characteristically clever fashion, as she did later in presenting the club-women's own district president, Mrs. E. E. Knight, who was among the honored guests. Mrs. Knight introduced the speaker of the brief business session, Mrs. W. W. Goodrich of San Joaquin who, at the afternoon period, talked on the aims and developments of the state department of the American home, of which she is chairman.

"We are all familiar with the budget system for home finances," declared Mrs. Goodrich, "but every home-maker should have a moral and spiritual budget as well as a financial one" and she continued to the effect that no matter how important the hangings, the furniture and equipment of the present day home, the factor of utmost importance, was the spiritual atmosphere of that home, quoting Dr. Phelps to the effect that environment matters little in comparison with the influence of wise and good parents.

The department of the American home was instituted as recently as 1924 and has a three-fold object, realization of the importance of home-making; helping women in their individual problems of home-making, and co-operation with other organizations to bring about both matters little in comparison with the outstanding theme of the next biennial.

In addition to the valuable points of Mrs. Goodrich's talk, were interesting reports read by Mrs. W. W. Anderson, recording secretary; Mrs. F. H. Cloyes, corresponding secretary; Mrs. N. A. Beals, treasurer; Mrs. W. H. Harrison, treasurer; Mrs. G. E. Knox, G. F. Daley, Emrys D. White, Charles C. Briscoe, Edward C. Erwin, C. F. Crose, Miss Maime Havens and Miss Leonora Tompkins.

All such details followed the luncheon with its inimitable entertainment offered by Alma Whitaker. How shall one characterize Alma Whitaker? She is quite the most audacious person ever to appear before the dignified Ebell society. But who does not enjoy audacity? Especially when it is coupled with cleverness? And of the many other excellent qualities attributed to Alma Whitaker, cleverness is the first and foremost.

In introducing her, Mrs. Stanley presented her as a friend who, for a number of years, had breakfasted with her, and few of those in the audience but who felt the same. So it was in the midst of friends that the newspaper writer, interviewer of celebrities and favorite luncheon and dinner speaker of Los Angeles, related her "Indiscreet Gossip."

Beginning with John Drinkwater, who she asserted, was scarcely recognized in America as poet or playwright until his now-famous "Abraham Lincoln" was produced, she told the little personal things that never get into the news columns, and sketched in appearances, mannerisms, personalities and qualities (both excellent and the reverse) of a representative group of kindred celebrities, including

Wedded in Eagle Rock And Honeymooning In San Diego

The wedding in Eagle Rock last Friday, January 8, of Miss Josephine Alexander of this city, and Sydney Druce, prominent rancher of the Anaheim district, interested scores of friends of the popular couple who were announced formally today by the bride's mother, Mrs. T. J. Alexander, of 1116 French street.

Mr. and Mrs. Druce are spending their honeymoon in San Diego but are expected to return tomorrow to be greeted by their friends. The wedding was a quiet one at the home of a close friend of the bride, Mrs. Mitchell, whose husband is pastor of one of the Eagle Rock churches. The Rev. Mr. Mitchell read the impressive ceremony. Mrs. Mitchell and Miss Alexander were closely associated in their former work of teaching in Orange county schools.

Miss Alexander chose a tailored suit in soft, warm tones of brown for her wedding costume. The material was of bengaline and shoes, hat and gloves all harmonized in color.

The happy couple will be established at the French street address where they will welcome their friends. The bride is the sister of James Alexander, assistant postmaster, their father, the late T. J. Alexander, having been one of the city's pioneers and a former postmaster here.

Young People Enjoy Salamagundi Party

One of the happy affairs of the end of the week was a salamagundi party with which the Misses Vivian Herr and Adah Ruth Ellis entertained at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie V. Herr, 606 North Ross street.

The guests comprised the members of the King's Daughters class of the First Presbyterian Sunday school. All enjoyed a series of unique games planned by their hostesses and at a late hour found their places at small tables where a most delectable two-course supper was served. LUCKY LEFT HANDS

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Superstition has it that left-handed persons are lucky. A medical man has just emphasized that the left-handed child, who is allowed to develop naturally, is at any rate luckier than the child forced against inclination to use the right hand, for he states that such persons are frequently resulted in nervous disorders.

Well-known Writer To Sail Soon for The Islands

Those who have been privileged to read either in manuscript, magazine or book form, the results of Alice Fessenden Peterson's stay in the tropics, will be interested in learning that she will again respond to the lure of the outward trail when on January 20 she and her husband, B. G. Peterson, now of "Our Village," will sail from San Francisco for a five weeks' vacation in Hawaii.

The trip will be Mr. Peterson's first vacation from business for many years and he is anticipating much of value and interest from it fully as much as is Mrs. Peterson. The latter expects to store up impressions and writing material to be devoted, upon her return from the trip, into those series of stories and nature studies which were such a rich harvest of her former tropical wanderings.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson will leave next Monday for San Francisco sailing on the following Wednesday on the Matsonia. Mr. and Mrs. Franklyn P. Nickey of this city will sail on the same vessel on the start of their trip around the world. Business Women Hear Details of Orange Executive Meet

Since members of the Business and Professional Women's club were anticipating the report of the southern district executive board meeting held last Saturday at Orange, to be offered by their president, Miss Martha Whitson, at yesterday's meeting at St. Ann's Inn, Miss Justine Whitney, chairman of the January program committee had planned no additional entertainment other than musical numbers.

The luncheon meeting was all that had been expected and the clubmembers were keenly interested in Miss Whitson's account of the executive board session where she represented the local club and was accompanied by Miss Louise Kaiser, Miss Teresa McDonough, Mrs. Cecyl Drake and Mrs. Irene Granby.

The Orange Presbyterian church was the scene of the gathering which was presided over by Sue Broderick of the Orange district president. Among the many reports offered, was that of the membership chairman who told of the new club to be instituted at Wilmington next Friday night. Roselind Bates, chairman of publicity, talked on the club organ, the Southern Sun, asking that each club subscribe twenty-five cents per member. The local club had already taken the matter up at the December board meeting and had made such a subscription.

At the dinner which followed the board meeting, all delegates and visiting clubwomen were entertained at the Orange Woman's clubhouse. Informal talks were given there, Miss Whitson being among of the interesting activities noted by Miss Whitson and recounted to her own club yesterday, was that the Long Beach club maintains a home for a group of a dozen young girls who by reason of illness in their own homes or some similar misfortune, have no other place to go. Action was taken at the board meeting to ask that the presidents of southern, central and northern districts be made vice-presidents of the state organization.

Miss Whitney's interesting account of the session was followed by the announcement that the cook book which the local club is issuing with Miss Kaiser compiling the recipes turned in by members, will soon be ready to distribute. The club members will have 500 to dispose of. An interesting note was read from a former popular member, Dr. Mary Wright, now of Florida.

Miss Whitney then introduced Mrs. Emma Smith who sang very sweetly to the piano accompaniment of Miss Gladys Campbell. Her numbers were "Love Came Calling" and "All For You" and she responded to the interest shown by giving a third number, "Neapolitan Night." Miss Whitney announced that the January party would take the form of a dinner to be served on the final Monday night of the month.

Little Maiden Greet Many Playmates on Her Birthday

Winsome little Miss Mary Therese Le Gaye celebrated her eighth birthday last Saturday afternoon with a number of her school friends at her home, 121 East Washington avenue, which her mother, Mrs. A. P. Le Gaye, has made beautiful for the coming of her daughter's guests.

When all had gathered, Mary Therese was called from a neighbor's home, and was greatly surprised to find the assembled company. The guests brought many lovely gifts for the little maid, who made a charming hostess, leading her playmates in a number of games, including musical numbers.

Many were the exclamations of delight when the dining room table thrown open and the lovely table disclosed. Instead of one birthday cake, there were two, one in primrose and the other in coral tints, each holding eight tapers, which were blown out in approved fashion.

A saucy kewpie carrying a 1926 pennant, occupied the center of the table, his station being the heart of a rosebud. The place cards carried out the motif of kewpies and rosebuds. Mrs. E. B. Collier assisted Mrs. Le Gaye in seeing that the children enjoyed themselves.

Those enjoying the event with Mary Therese were Jeanette Klatt, Edwina Maaz, Mary Louise Dierker, Evelyn Witt, Constance Barnett, Helen Markel, Mary Louise Heaney, Roberta Tuthill, Barbara Jane Davis, Elizabeth Borchard, Barbara Borchard, Irene Ravenkamp, Betty Goode, Wilma Borchard, Olga Deck, Dorine Houppert, Jane Pettit and Master Albert Le Gaye, tiny brother of the honored maid.

NEWS from ORANGE COUNTY

FALKENSTEIN SELLS STORE IN ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, Jan. 12.—Sale of Falkenstein's, one of the oldest merchandising establishments in this city, was announced today by William Falkenstein, who has been concerned in the operation of the establishment for the past 26 years.

Kurt Epstein, present manager of the store, and for 22 years an employee of the establishment, and Joseph J. Spitzer, for the past 22 years associated with the merchandising firm of Kutner and Goldstein, of Hanford, are the new owners.

Falkenstein announces his retirement from business activities and states that his plans for the future are not yet completed but that he plans to continue his residence in this city, where he has many property interests.

Starting in a small way in 1899 with a general merchandising store located on the present street, he later moved to a more central location on the corner now occupied by Heying's drug store, finally moving into the larger quarters now occupied by the store that bears his name.

In his first venture here, he was associated with a partner, Harris, and the store was known as Harris and Falkenstein. Later, the Harris interests were sold and the store came to be known as Asher and Falkenstein. In 1911, Mr. Falkenstein became sole owner.

Papers for the transfer were filed today, and formal act of transfer will be completed by February 1, it is stated. In the meanwhile, Mr. Falkenstein will continue his connection with the firm.

He urged this community to retain in full the beautiful Spanish name of San Juan Capistrano with its rich historic associations. The speaker said that he accepted the chairmanship of the state committee on education with more pride and misgivings than any other appointment that had come to him, and that he was proud to be associated with the P-T. A. He reviewed the things for which the Parent-Teacher association was organized.

Proceedings to lengthen the pier at Balboa 500 feet will continue. Only two protests were entered against the proposed extension of the pier at the meeting last night and both were overruled by the board. PLANS FOR H. B. COSTA MESA IMPROVEMENTS ARE DROPPED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 12.—Proceedings for the improvement of Eighteenth street by paving and the installation of an ornamental street lighting system were definitely abandoned at a meeting of the city board of trustees, last night. Controversy as to whether or not to pave the street has been going on for some time.

Several months ago, a petition was submitted, signed by a large number of property owners, asking that the street be paved. Proceedings were started. At the time set for protests, a number of the persons who had asked for the paving and several other property owners appeared before the trustees in favor and those opposed showed those favoring the improvement to be in the majority and the objections were overruled.

Several of the persons who had protested then declared that if the specifications were changed to include a different kind of ornamental lighting system, they, too, would be satisfied. The trustees abandoned the proceedings and started over again. Last night, a large number of protests were presented and the trustees declared themselves to be tired of meeting every week to try to find out what the residents of the street wanted, and definitely abandoned the proceedings. The fact that notices of the proposed improvements had not been posted within the legal time limit also was a factor in causing the trustees to drop improvement proceedings.

The final reading of the resolutions changing the building and the plumbing ordinance took place and the resolutions were adopted. The changes become effective in 30 days.

The chief of police was instructed to purchase a new motorcycle for the motorcycle officer.

The next meeting of the trustees will be in February.

In addition to the officers and representatives, the general committee will comprise the following: D. H. Goodwin, J. D. Hardy, R. H. Grieves, Dale R. King, C. Stanley Chapman, E. W. Dean, L. E. Plummer, O. M. Thompson, Don S. Haskett, R. S. Gregory, W. J. Carmichael and Charles C. Chapman.

The annual campaign for funds will be started about the middle of February. Arrangements are now being completed for the annual meeting, to be held in the Round Table clubhouse, Placentia, on January 22.

Says Club Given Business License

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 12.—A license reported to have been granted here recently for a poker club was not for a poker club but was a general business license according to City Marshal J. A. Porter of this city.

Porter explained that poker clubs could not be licensed in this city. The purpose of the license, Porter explained, is to allow fishermen and business men to gather in a clubroom where cards may be played and checks good for merchandise but not for money, may be used.

Solo and other card games are also played by the newly formed organization. The license was taken out by a local business man.

FULLERTON, Jan. 12.—Two recognized leaders in boy's work in Southern California contributed to the program at the father and son banquet sponsored last evening by the Baptist Men's Brotherhood. Fred L. Dye, of Hollywood, was the speaker, while Merle Waterman, versatile entertainer, gave musical numbers. The father was ministered to by the church and their sons or boys "borrowed" for the occasion.

SENATOR AND PROFESSOR TO SPEAK TONIGHT

ANAHEIM, Jan. 12.—State Senator Charles H. V. Lewis, a member of the senate agricultural committee, and H. J. Webber, professor of subtropical horticulture in the University of California, and director of the citrus experiment station at Riverside, will appear before an open meeting of the Anaheim farm center in the auditorium of the Anaheim union high school at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

Senator Lewis will speak in the interests of legislation proposed to correct alleged injustices in the California taxation system. The senator has promised some startling revelations in regard to the methods at present employed in collecting state funds.

Dr. Webber, who has just returned from an extended trip through the citrus districts of South Africa, will present an exhaustive account of conditions there illustrating his remarks with stereopticon slides.

Owing to the general interest of the subjects to be discussed, the meeting has been thrown open to the public and a large attendance is expected. R. E. Neblung, president of the Anaheim center said morning.

Electrify Plant Of Ice Concern

ANAHEIM, Jan. 12.—With the installation of two new 200 h. p. electric motors, now completed, the Anaheim plant of the Consolidated Ice and Cold Storage company has become thoroughly electrified, and takes its place as one of the most modern of plants of its kind in the county.

The new motors take the place of several steam engines in the operation of the plant and represent an investment of approximately $15,000. William LeVeck, manager of the concern, said this morning.

Increased production and greater efficiency are two of the advantages which the new modern equipment will bring to the operation of the cold storage and ice manufacturing plant, Mr. LeVeck said.

Constipation!

How to Keep Bowels Regular

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician of 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many men, women, children, and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup of Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never irritates, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

SCHOOL NEWS

Julia Lathrop

Julia Lathrop opened school after the Christmas holidays with 12 new pupils, a surplus amount of energy and a determination to begin the new year with a resolution to be "First" in everything. Both students and instructors have returned to their duties with an added vigor.

Several of the teachers report having spent the vacation time taking short trips. The Misses Thrasher and Henderson enjoyed trips by car to Lake Elsinore and nearby resorts. Miss Hunt included snow in her Christmas plans and visited Camp Baldy where, she says, it was plentiful. Miss Adams, Miss Foster and Mrs. Sinke spent some time in Los Angeles and Miss Kline divided her vacation between Hermosa Beach and Pasadena.

Now that the end of the semester is looming up, work is taking first place in Lathrop activities. Miss Thrasher has started her classes on their projects which are to be worked out in groups. These projects, following the line of the social studies will include teaching and nursing in their programs.

Mr. Rowley's electricity class is making some very practical and useful articles this semester. Electric batteries and toasters and other electrical appliances may be found in his manual training shop as evidence of the boys' industry. Last year the class in electricity sold several hundred dollars of such articles.

On Thursday the regular meetings of the Every Girls' club and Boys' I. X. L. club, met during the forenoon. The girls' meeting proved to be a most interesting one. After the business meeting and report of the Christmas work committee a demonstration of the new Underwood Mammoth typewriter was given by Eva Dean Caskey. Following this, Miss Foster presented a most pleasing program in which the girls took part. Musical numbers included a piano, cello, and violin solo, and a piano duet. A short play called "Clothes Make the Woman," proved of especial interest in that it demonstrated to the girls the value of color and line in correct dress. A fashion review presented by the ninth grade girls gave the meeting views of dresses made at home and in class under the direction of Miss Foster of the domestic art department.

The Boys' I. X. L. club enjoyed a program which included several piano and band selections, a short talk by Mr. Russick on "Indigestion" and a talk by Coach Bryan on "Posture Week," which is coming soon.

These clubs which include every student in the school furnish an outlet for the students and an opportunity for development of leadership and any talents for entertainment they may possess. They are especially valuable because they are presided over and maintained by the students, themselves. Excellent co-operation and surprising ability along executive lines have been discovered in just such work.

Christmas Committee

The work done by the Christmas committee was most commendable this year. Several families were provided with food and baskets for Christmas and toys were sent to the children's orphanage at Sawtelle. The following list is indicative of the time and thought expended in this work by the students and Mrs. Webber.

A Christmas committee composed of the following representatives attended to the collection of contributions.

I. X. L. club, Newell Vandermast, Ernest Peters and Harper Goff; Every Girls' club, Evelyn Dysart, Marjorie Cook and Marguerite Taylor; student body, Virginia Pope, Eva Dean Caskey and Elza Venn.

On December 24 cars were provided by Eva Dean Caskey and Betty Smith and these girls with Marguerite Taylor and Eva Dean Caskey and Mrs. Webber distributed the articles.

The Children's orphanage at Sawtelle was made happy by a large box of clothing, provisions, books, toys and over six dollars in cash.

Guidance clubs met Wednesday and several interesting factors were introduced as projects for the remaining meeting. Miss Carothers' Art and Sketch club is interested in dress designing at present. In the spring the club is planning some out-door sketch work. The club aims to become acquainted with the famous artists, their lines and works.

Frances E. Willard

Camp Fire Girls

The Camp Fire Girls of Frances Willard school are still broadcasting their experiences at Camp Lewis during the first two days of vacation. Fifteen girls with Miss Childers and Miss Boose as guardians, left home Thursday morning, the first day of Christmas vacation, for the camp which is beyond Modjeska's home about three-fourths of a mile from the end of the road.

After following the winding trail in and out across streams, everyone arrived at camp as hungry as a bear. Each girl and her group had a turn at cooking, washing dishes, and carrying in wood.

The hikes were the most fun. On one hike the girls went in two groups, the first group making a trail and hiding a treasure and the second group following the trail and bringing home the treasure.

At night the campers slept out under the trees where the goblins seemed to cause some girls much anxiety.

Friday the hike was interrupted by rain and the girls hurried back to the cabin where they stayed by the fireplace until afternoon.

In the afternoon, Mr. Kellogg, armed with raincoat and umbrellas, arrived at camp with the machines and a bunch of tired but happy girls piled into the cars for Santa Ana.

What a good time we all had and how that bunch could eat!

The girls enjoying the trip were Edith Bray, Imogene McCauley, Maxine Smith, Helen Weissman, Hesper Turner, Vivian Smith, Nellie McQueen, Barbara Paul, Alice Jacobson, Charlene Lowell, Helen Ridley, Lucille Hayden, Dorothy Lee, Edna Hicks and Frances Malars.

Arts and Crafts

The Arts and Crafts class started basketry just before Christmas. One basket was completed which was a low work basket with cretonne pad, needle-book and pin-wheel. It was painted to harmonize with the cretonne used, and the result made a very attractive Christmas gift. The class expects to make waste baskets, flower baskets, serving trays and other interesting problems.

Honor Society Trip

The Honor society had a most wonderful trip to Exposition park, Los Angeles on December 14. We left Willard at 8:30 o'clock. Mrs. Thatcher taking charge of the girls and Mr. Archer the boys. On arriving at the park they went through the Natural History building in groups. Among the most interesting things in this building were groups of animals in lifelike poses. The painted background blended with the grass and soil so perfectly as to almost deceive the eye. There was a group of buffalo and their young, a group of deer, and one of seals and sea lions. The latter were of enormous proportions. Mr. Archer took several snap-shots of these.

This part of the museum has just recently been under construction and is not yet finished.

Everyone was interested in a wonderful collection of birds from all over the world, and bones of prehistoric animals.

Some of the most beautiful art pieces in the museum were those of Chinese needle-work. There was a picture of a lion and horses, and a tiger howling at the moon.

There were four or five mummies. They were in old wooden coffins wrapped up in cloth that was brown with age. Some were encased in what appeared to be cardboard.

Before returning home Mr. Archer took several pictures of the Honor society. The trip was a decided success.

Clarice Stanley, Girls' Club

The fourth meeting of the second Girls' Service club was held last Wednesday. The girls had their luncheon in the club room and during the meal the reports were read. There was a guest, Adah Ruth Ellis, president of the other girls' Service club. The time was made enjoyable by jokes told by the members. Mary Clafoni gave a reading, "The Selfish Giant," which was duly appreciated. The club voted in a new member, Marion Trotter, whose name was on the waiting list. After a very enjoyable time the meeting was adjourned.

Katherine Barr, Assembly

An exceedingly interesting program was presented by the 4A class at the regular assembly period Friday. Under the direction of Miss Libby, the class teacher, the following program was given: Violin solo, "Shan Rosmin," by Merrill Bauer; piano solo, "Tinkle the Ivories," by Evelyn Hunton; reading, "The Soul of O. Sana San" by Mary Clafoni; dance, "Ballet Russe" by Peggy Bronson; New Year's Resolutions, by Frederick Hermon; vocal duets, "Ukelele Lady" "The Thrush," by Ruth Lalonde and Susan Stewart; play, "A Pair of Lunatics" by Bess Marie Simmons and Gladys Earl.

The assembly on January 22, will be in charge of the Dramatics class. A one act play, "The Golden Doom," by Dunsany will be given. There will be musical numbers, readings and other interesting events. Due to the cost of production of the play a slight admission fee will be necessary.

Parent-Teachers

Frances Willard

Mrs. Walter Fine, chairman of the program committee, is arranging an interesting program for the January meeting of the Frances Willard P.-T. A., which will occur next Thursday at 8 o'clock.

The Kiwanis club is sending a speaker who will talk on the subject of "Thrifty." Miss Davis, musical instructor, has arranged for musical numbers to be played by a number of the students.

The association's president, Mrs. Charles J. Stewart, is hoping that many mothers will be present and take part in an informal discussion of the subject of "Uniform Dress for Girls."

Mrs. Norbert Lentz will have charge of the refreshments which she and her helpers will serve at the close of the afternoon.

JEWELRY STORE SOLD BY SMITH AFTER 36 YEARS OF OWNERSHIP

Pioneer Merchant Retires, Following Extended Period of Activity Here

RIVERSIDE MAN IS OWNER OF BUSINESS

R. W. Ewert Buys Local Establishment and Will Install New Fixtures

E. B. Smith, pioneer jeweler of Santa Ana, today has stepped aside from business activity in the city, and announced his retirement from the jewelry business here, after 36 years of business operation in that line.

He has sold his jewelry store at 113 West Fourth street to R. H. Ewert, who has had many years of experience in the line, and who comes here direct from Riverside.

Ewert already has completed plans for remodeling the interior of the business room and the installation of modern equipment, he announced. Some of the equipment, he said, already has been purchased.

Stock to Be Increased

Enlargement of the stock carried is one of the objects to be gained by the installation of new and modern fixtures, and when the contemplated improvements are made Ewert expects to have one of the most modern jewelry stores in the Southland. The capacity of the workshop will be doubled, according to plans of the new merchant.

The new owner went to Riverside from British Columbia three years ago, and is establishing himself in Santa Ana following investigations that convinced him Santa Ana and vicinity have a future as bright, if not a little brighter, than other Southern California cities.

"There is certain to be one large city between Los Angeles and San Diego, and in my opinion, Santa Ana is going to be that city," Ewert said today, in commenting on points that caused him to cast his lot here.

Air of Prosperity Here

"The county and the city have a convincing air of prosperity and substantiality. I see every indication here of an advancing city. The country back of Santa Ana is the best that may be found anywhere. The city appears to be progressive. The business men I met during my period of investigation and since my decision to purchase the local store impressed me as being men of high integrity and business acumen. They are good boosters for the city, and that tells a big story of harmony, and of confidence in their home town."

Mrs. Ewert and their son may continue their residence in Riverside until after the close of the school term. During the brief residence of the family in Riverside, Mrs. Ewert has become prominent in club work there, and has taken an active part in many affairs of the organizations with which she is identified.

Smith came to Santa Ana in 1890—36 years ago—and opened a jewelry store two years later. Santa Ana at that time was very much of a village, the population numbering about 4000.

First Business Venture

He first ventured into business by opening a small jewelry store and repair shop in part of a room occupied by the S. W. Smith undertaking parlors, at 106 East Fourth street, taking quarters with the A. street. Later he moved to W. Fourth

WILD WEST DAYS RECALLED WHEN OPENING GUN OF BIG Y. MEMBER DRIVE IS FIRED

Days of the "wild west," with its romantic atmosphere of gun-toting cowpunchers, reckless gamblers and mean looking desperadoes, were recalled last night at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., with the firing of the opening gun of the big annual membership campaign.

The opening of the membership drive was preceded by a grand rally and "roundup," for which event each "Y" worker came dressed as a cowboy.

Erick Reinau won the prize for the best costume at the barbecue, another feature of the "roundup." He was pronounced the "meanest looking guy," and was awarded a loud-voiced cowbell as a reward. It was suggested that he move to Hollywood.

The singing of the campaign songs was led by Ray Miles, with A. L. Ferguson at the piano. The songs especially favored by the lusty cowpunchers were two old-timers, "The Arkansas Traveler" and "Oh Susanna."

A. W. Albrecht and Erick Reinau were the first "riders" to get their mavericks brandied, each turning in an application before leaving the building.

The results of the various teams will be posted on the big campaign bulletin board in the lobby at 7 o'clock tonight.

Following is the complete line-up of the campaign workers:

POLITICS SPLITS JUNIOR COLLEGE STUDENT RANKS

Election of School Officers Expected to Furnish Exciting Contests

A tense political situation has developed at the Santa Ana junior college over the election of student body officers. Candidates have been named in petitions and a lively campaign is being waged.

Three students are rivals for the presidency. They are Stewart Ritter, George Broomell and Valmer Clark.

Nominations of the candidates will be made at the student body assembly tomorrow. The voting will be conducted next Monday. Officers elected will be installed Wednesday, when John McCoy, retiring student body president, will hand over the gavel of power to his successor.

An effort to nip in the bud the candidacy of Valmer Clark was attempted at the session of the college executive board yesterday. Opposition to Clark centered about his standing as a freshman. The supporters of Clark indicated today that they would defy the action.

Election of a freshman met disfavor from the board because it held it proper for only an upper classman to receive the office. The student council stated its position in a mild recommendation to the incoming board to draw up a constitutional amendment that would prevent freshmen from running for president.

For the vice presidency, Henrik Van Rensselaer and James Smith are being supported. Two candidates are named for secretary. They are Miss Thelma Patton, star girl athlete, and Miss Louane Leech, present secretary.

A close contest seems likely for the office of treasurer. Petitions are out for three students. They are Lawrence Minze, Emerson Riggs and Judson Harmon. From the interest already developed, the campus will be alive with politics for the next week until the balloting is over.

Harbor Commerce Body Directors To Hold Session

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 12.—Notices have been sent out for a special meeting of the directors of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, to be held Wednesday, at 6:15 p. m.

There are several matters of importance to be taken up at this meeting, which will be held at the clubhouse of the Newport Harbor Yacht club.

It is expected that the report of the election committee will be ready for this meeting. S. A. Meyer was elected on the primary ballot in the Newport District and it was necessary to send out final ballots for the Costa Mesa and Balboa districts.

The present directors of the harbor chamber are J. L. Almsworth, W. P. Crozier, Benjamin Funcheon, J. P. Greeley, C. G. Huston, S. A. Meyer, G. T. Peabody, Conrad Richter, H. C. Sloan, Lew Wallace and A. H. Wilson.

Puts on Wife's Clothing, Then Hangs Himself

YREKA, Calif., Jan. 12.—Austin Murphy, 30, postmaster at Montague, whose body was found hanging from the rafters in his home there, donned an outfit of his wife's clothing before he swung himself into eternity.

This developed as a result of the inquest.

When found Murphy wore a boudoir cap and a street dress. When the mania to take his own life came, Murphy had been working over his post office books. A superficial examination of these showed nothing wrong. A postal inspector is making a check of the office records.

Acid Stomach
"Phillips Milk of Magnesia"
Better than Soda

Hereafter, instead of soda, take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. It neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges the souring waste from the system without purging. Besides, it is more pleasant to take than soda. Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent bottles, any drugstore.—Adv.

7 AGENTS FOR FRUIT GROWERS ON VISIT HERE

Seven eastern agents, representing the California Fruit Growers' exchange, today were inspecting groves and packing houses in the Northern Orange County Exchange district, following a tour of inspection of the district covered by the Orange County Fruit exchange yesterday.

The agents are making investigations in the citrus growing districts of the state for the purpose of better acquainting themselves with conditions surrounding the commodity which they represent in their respective cities.

The group was met by L. D. Palmer, manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange, at Capistrano, yesterday, at 11 a. m., and was driven to the Santa Ana Country club for luncheon. In the afternoon, they were driven over the district.

Members of associations in the county were host last night to the group at a dinner at the Hacienda club. The visitors were entertained at luncheon today at Fullerton.

The representatives are W. H. McDonald, New York; W. H. Payne, Syracuse; A. E. Paulick, St. Paul; E. B. Stanton, Cincinnati; Conway Smith, Tulsa; A. H. Kirchmann, Grand Rapids, and M. B. Bates, Roanoke.

Dempsey Plans to Buy Movie Houses

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, launched plans here today to become a Hollywood motion picture exhibitor.

The champion told the United Press he had been inspecting sites for three movie shows in the film capital.

"I am going into the business on a big scale," he said. "I have operations on three sites and plan to start building my theaters in the very near future."

Claims Human Ear Becoming Larger

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—The human ear is getting bigger and bigger—eventually it may match that of the elephant, according to Dr. P. O. Pfuffer, Viennese aurist.

He claims the auricular evolution is being brought about by the "tremendous din and conflict of complex noises in which we exist."

"The very strain of trying daily to hear intelligently in a big city is gradually enlarging the ear through constant irritation, stimulation and exercise," he explains. "It is not beyond possibility that in the course of centuries people will develop radio ears, great floppers capable of receiving radio directly from the air."

Musical Comedy To Be Presented By Choral Union

The Orange County Choral union will present the musical comedy, "The Chocolate Soldier," early in May, according to announcement made yesterday.

First rehearsal will be held Friday night and the production will be directed by Ellis Rhodes.

"The Chocolate Soldier" perhaps is one of the most pleasing musical comedies ever written.

Anyone interested in choral work or who desires to take part in the production are urged to get in touch with either W. L. Stewart or Mrs. Gladys Hayden.

PROSPERITY OF SOUTHLAND IS SHOWN BY TAX

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Southern California's prosperity during 1925 was reflected in the federal tax returns, as revealed in a report compiled by Rex B. Goodcell, collector of internal revenue for this territory. Eighty per cent of the revenue is contributed by income taxpayers.

Collections during the year totaled $59,557,415.85, which is $633,584.88 more than was paid in 1924, a new record, the report shows. Considering the fact that various tax reductions were effected last year, the increase from a comparative basis was $15,633,584.88.

The total was even $8,861,054 greater than in 1920, when war taxes were in effect and collections reached the highest point in the history of the treasury department.

Goodcell gave four reasons for the new high level. They were:

1. Increase of population.
2. Increase in the earning power of Southern Californians.
3. Expansion of established industries.
4. Real estate profits. The state reported the greatest profits in this line, with the exception of New York.

Grove Midgets In Double Lose On Fullerton Court

By KENNETH HARRIS.
GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 12.—Teams from Fullerton defeated both the Garden Grove "C" and "D" teams on the basketball court last Thursday. Most of the little fellows were inexperienced and for many of them it was their first game. The Fullerton "D" team won by a score of 19 to 12; the Fullerton "C" team won by a score of 24 to 7.

Muhlik and Goodrich were high point men for Fullerton in the "D" game. Butler, the only man on the Garden Grove team who scored, was the best player on the local squad. During the first two quarters the Fullerton midgets scored 16 points to Garden Grove's 2. In the last half Fullerton was held to a score of 3 points.

The "C" team played a very good game. Hayhurst and Noland starred for the Garden Grove quintet. Dauser, Fullerton captain and forward, played best for his team. The Garden Grove teams were handicapped by the indoor court, the court at Garden Grove being outside.

FOREIGN BULB EMBARGO SEEN AS IMPETUS TO INDUSTRY HERE

Anticipate Tremendous Demand from East for California Grown Products

TOP LEVEL PRICES ARE EXPECTED SOON

W. J. Vander Bruggen, S. A. Plant and Bulb Exporter, Has Big Narcissi Order

With the federal embargo against imported narcissi bulbs having gone into effect January 1, Orange county and other Southern California growers are anticipating a tremendous demand for the domestic brand of these bulbs. It was announced today by W. J. Vander Bruggen, proprietor of the Santa Ana Plant company and well known bulb grower and importer.

According to Vander Bruggen, who returned a few days ago from an extensive trip through the bulb fields of the southern part of the state, the trade prospects for 1926 look better than ever before.

Already the effect of the embargo is reflected in an upward trend of prices, which, it is predicted, will reach top levels before spring. In anticipation of a limited supply, the big importers of the east are turning to Southern California for their requirements.

This change on market conditions, it was asserted, has prompted some of the most important growers in the Southland to contract for all available supply. Eastern orders, calling for substantial shipments, are on file with some of the Southern California growers. In this connection, Vander Bruggen added that he alone expected to ship close to 2,000,000 narcissi bulbs to eastern points, representing an invoice value of close to $20,000.

Will Decide On Sale of Legion Property Here

Members of Santa Ana post, American Legion, will hold their regular meeting Thursday night in the Legion hall, Birch street, at which time the organization probably will decide whether to sell the legion property.

A committee, at work on a proposition to sell the building and lot, will make its report at the meeting.

A proposition concerning the sponsoring of an athletic club also will be discussed by the members.

Postal Pay Money Asked by Coolidge

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Request for a supplemental appropriation of $100,688,175 for the post-office department has been made to congress by President Coolidge. Most of the funds are to be used to meet salary increases authorized in the pay increase act, for which funds were unavailable this year. An item of $210,000 for the purpose of new airplanes for the transcontinental air mail was included.

All Pigeons Have Red Feet!

¶ The legend has it that the Dove made a second flight. On its return, they found its feet red with clay. Then (so it is said), Noah prayed that all doves have red feet. To this day all pigeons have red feet.

¶ This is especially interesting in view of the fact that there are many species of pigeons varying from the Nem to the Runt. Yet they all have red feet.

¶ With the Diamonds, they may vary in size, color and weight, but they all have the same untiring feet which they turn into mileage. Look into the faces of the drivers of cars that are equipped with Diamonds. There is no evidence of tire worries.

¶ We make 'em make good. And if you have any backbone (tire) left our re-treading (we use real rubber) solves it.

WEST END THEATER

"Three Faces East," now showing at the West End, is one of the most expertly devised and absorbingly presented mystery dramas thus far screened.

It is primarily a swift, exciting story, based upon the conflicting machinations of Berlin and London spies in the late war; capably developed in its major roles by Jetta Goudal, Clive Brook, Henry B. Walthall and Robert Ames, and plausibly sustained to inevitable and spectacular denouement.

But while the picture deals largely with objective action, held to high suspense, its most impressive element is the tolerant tone in which opposing and equally genuine patriotisms are presented. There is no particular echo of hate to stir subsiding racial passions. The German spy, sensitively and impressively portrayed by Clive Brook, is shadowed forth without a single detestable personal trait. And Jetta Goudal, as the English secret service operative who finally exposes him and causes "Boehke's" death, is presented as honestly in love with him to the end, both roles inspire an equal amount of sympathetic interest.

"Three Faces East" then, is worthy the comment that it very decidedly reflects the conciliatory spirit of the recent Locarno pact—a tone which we may expect to see evidenced in forthcoming photoplays dealing with phases of the World War. And it is this tone which, investing the melodrama with persuasive humanities, lifts the picture above ordinary and casual entertainment.

Robert Ames, with his infectious, flashing buoyancy, is sure to win popular admiration as the returned British warrior. Walthall gives a hint of his old emotional power as chief of the London intelligence bureau, and Goudal and Brook never have been seen to better advantage.

An air attack upon London by the massed German Zeppelin fleet brings the picture to a crashing finale—an unhappy ending for the lovers who also were alien enemies.

FUNERAL HELD UP

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Owing to the slippery condition of a road here recently, a funeral procession was delayed some time because the mourners were obliged to descend from the carriages while these were pushed up the hill by passers-by. The coffin was then removed from the hearse and carried up the hill by the mourners.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—he successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c.

Frolic' Opens Three Day Stay At Yost Thurs.

What Manager E. D. Yost describes as the "greatest array of theatrical talent in one group that ever played Santa Ana" is billed for the Yost theater here Thursday, Friday and Saturday. These stage stars will appear with Don Meaney's "Midnight Frolic."

Jack and June Laughlin head the company which also includes Madeline Hardy, original radio girl; Kathryn Martin, "the radio lark;" Frank Stever, noted baritone; the Clark sisters, Amy Butler and the famous Sunnyland jazz band. The act runs a full hour, according to Manager Yost.

WEST COAST-WALKER
Showing for the last times today at the West Coast-Walker theater is Peter B. Kyne's "The Golden Strain," featuring Madge Bellamy, Kenneth Harlan, Hobart Bosworth and Ann Pennington. "The Golden Strain" has been proclaimed by critics the country over as the picture with a thousand thrills. It will hold you from beginning to end and you will go away knowing you have witnessed one of the best pictures of all times.

On the stage, Gene Morgan is featured in a West Coast presentation, the "All Star Idea" produced by Fanchon and Marco. Others in the cast include Helene Hughes, Jue Wong and Fay Adler and Ted Bradford.

Five acts of vaudeville and Maurice ("Lefty") Flynn in his latest comedy melodrama, "Heads Up" head the program which opens tomorrow.

Hibbert and White are two clever blackface artists who can sing well; dance with splendid ability and talk the negro dialect perfectly. Their stories and dialogue are witty and bring no end of laughs.

George and Nellie Fosto introduce a comedy act called "Hockshop the Detective." It was written by James Madison and Mr. Fosto for laughing purposes only.

Dunn and Campbell offer a repertoire of classical and jazz music. Clark Brothers, triple horizontal bar experts, have been recognized for years as one of the best of its kind and they are certain to meet with hearty approval with any audience.

Howard Swart sings and tells stories in a somewhat different manner from the ordinary run of single men. He also uses the banjo to good advantage. His singing and instrumental numbers, interspersed in dialogue, are rendered with a vigor that is not only pleasing but harmonious.

"The Sap," now playing at the Temple theater, is making a hit with the crowds far greater than any production the Connell Players have offered here. "The Sap" is one of the finest comedy-dramas of the year, having long runs all over the country to its credit.

Manager Bob Connell believes that in offering this play that his patrons will agree with him that no better show can be presented.

Bob Alderman, who plays the leading role, has created more laughter than all of the plays that the company has offered put together. A splendid six-reel feature is offered before the spoken play.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Having consumed the reviews of all the successes and failures of 1925 on international sport fields it might be in order now to make a few guesses on what may happen this year.

Considering the various classes at random and with a willingness to assume liability for any false predictions, the following is submitted:

Jack Dempsey will retain the heavyweight championship of the world by remaining unofficially in retirement.

Harry Wills will spend another year seeking sympathy for his hard luck.

The Pittsburgh Pirates will win the National league pennant because it is a great young ball club that has just found itself and that has gained the necessary confidence.

Bill Tilden will retain the world's tennis championship because there is no rival player within three points of him.

Bobby Jones will win the national amateur golf championship because he has the game and the class.

Helen Wills will win the national women's tennis championship because she is far ahead of the field and she may win the world's championship if Mlle. Lenglen consents to meet her.

Red Grange will not return to his studies at Illinois.

Rogers Hornsby will win the National league batting championship for the seventh time because no one can hit like he can.

Gl. Debie will say next fall that Cornell has the worst football squad he ever saw.

Harvard will have another football team.

Harry Greb will retain the world's middleweight championship and Mickey Walker will have to watch his step and pick his spots.

Charley Rosenberg will lose the bantamweight title.

Paul Berlenbach will hold himself open to meet any man or animal in the field.

Walter Hagen will make as much money as any of the golfers.

Gl. Levinson was a famous maker of boxing gloves at San Francisco until his death seven months ago, but Mrs. Levinson has more than doubled in that length of time the trade it took her husband 30 years to build.

Levinson's gloves always were in demand among fighters, and it was his proud boast that no championship bout had been fought since he went into business that had not required his gloves.

Mrs. Levinson now turns out an average of 200 sets of gloves each week, and many of the orders come

OWNERS OPPOSE STATE CONTROL OF PRO SPORTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Funds for organized baseball, which have done nothing but collect interest since the Federal league war, may be used to help defeat the movement to place all professional sports under state control in New York.

While only three teams, the Giants, Yankees and Robins, are directly concerned by the proposal to levy a state amusement tax on baseball, the club owners in the other cities fear that if New York puts baseball in a class with boxing as a state controlled and assessed sport, other states will follow.

Peter J. Brady, labor leader and president of the Federation bank, is leading a crusade to place baseball, hockey, football, basketball, cycling and racing under a similar tax and under the control of a reorganized state athletic commission.

John A. Heydler, president of the National league, was in Washington a few days ago inviting prominent government officials to attend the jubilee banquet of the league here next month and while there he is said to have discussed opposing measures with Senator George W. Pepper, Pennsylvania, chief counsel for the league.

"Why should baseball be taxed or regulated by the state?" Heydler asked on his return. "It is taxed now more than any other professional sport and it certainly is regulated better than it could be by a state commission, involving, as it would, so many conflicts in authority."

Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yanks, and Charles A. Stoneham, president of the Giants, have let it be known that they will use all their resources to defeat the proposal.

TRAINER PUTS BABE THROUGH WEIGHT-REDUCING PROCESSES

Babe Ruth is finally taking life and baseball seriously. Six weeks ago the Sultan of Swat weighed 235 pounds and was hog fat. Today Ruth weighs 215 and says he intends to drop ten more pounds of excess baggage.

Intensive training, care as to diet and the massage to top it off has rapidly erased the fat from Babe's waist line.

He expects to be busting them again next year in an effort to regain his home-run laurels.

U. S. MAY SEND WILLARDS PLAY YOUNG TENNIS STARS ABROAD

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Two school boys and girl players will be sent to England next year to play against British champions, it plans being considered by several progressive leaders of the United States Lawn Tennis association are looked on favorably on the other side.

No official mention of this new plan to encourage scholastic tennis has been made but it is likely that it will be mentioned at the annual meeting of the association here February 6.

Leaders of the association feel that tennis has been established as a senior international game and that it is now time to give more attention to the juniors and novices.

The junior champions are not held in England until September, a time that makes it out of the question to enter any American school boys as they would miss too much time for their studies.

It has been suggested that a series of sectional championships be held early in the summer among school boys and school girls in England and the United States so that an international championship be staged between the two teams of ranking players.

Relations in this way could be established similar to the police departments of London and New York, who have engaged in several dual athletic meets.

Because of the routine work of the organization that would be necessary it would be impossible to send the youngsters to England this summer with the two senior teams that are to play at Wimbledon and in the Wightman cup matches, but the plan might be developed in time to send a team over next year.

1000 BASEBALL MEN ASSEMBLE AT BIG CONFAB

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—A special trainload of baseball owners, managers and players from every minor league club in the country arrived in Los Angeles today for their annual confab.

The delegates took a boat for Catalina Island immediately after their arrival. Pacific Coast league officials, who wound up an important meeting here last night, joined the visitors, making at least 1,000 who journeyed over to the island for the fest.

There is little business on the minor leaguemen's schedule. Most of them came to the coast for a good time, and consequently their program read more like a county fair than a baseball meeting.

The delegates plan to swim, play golf, go sightseeing and indulge in any other midwinter sports that Southern California may offer them. Incidentally, they may transact some trades, and will probably find time to elect some new officers for next year.

The Pacific Coast league adjourned its final business meeting last night after approving transfer of the Vernon and Salt Lake clubs. W. H. McCarthy, former president of the Pacific Coast league, will be president of the new San Francisco Mission, as the Vernon players will be known. He was given the place by Stanley Dollar, shipping magnate, who bought the Tigers.

The Salt Lake club probably will become the "Hollywood Sheiks," or "Hollywood Stars."

The Coast moguls will return from the Island Thursday night for a special session to revise their playing schedule for 1926.

High Commissioner K. M. Landis did not attend today's meeting at Catalina, but played golf instead. He plans to sail over to the Island tomorrow and take part in the activities.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Jimmy McLarnin, the Vancouver wonder, and Bud Taylor, Terre Haute featherweight, go to the post at Vernon tonight to settle, at least temporarily, a feud that has existed for almost a year.

Ever since Taylor came from behind in the final rounds of their first fight here last June and won the decision, McLarnin has wanted to beat him and beat him fairly.

When the pair of little "whirlwinds" clashed here for the second time a month ago, Jimmy thought he would have his chance, but the fight did not go two rounds. Taylor committed an unintentional foul in the second stanza and the scrap was stopped before either scraper had had a chance to open up.

AL CLAYES IS ELIGIBLE FOR LOCAL VARSITY

J. C. Conference Meet Will Be Staged on S. A. Oval; Plan Much Competition

By ALFRED AULT

'Tis a merry tune that Coach Graham Harris, Santa Ana junior college mentor, whistles these days when he thinks of his track team.

If the local college ever had a cinderpath squad of Southern California championship caliber, this is the year.

With but two losses, the complete squad that was successful in capturing third in the conference meet last year, will be back. The versatile Al Clayes, football star and demon sprinter, is eligible, it was disclosed today, and he will be the ace in the Santa Ana deck.

Twenty-three athletes responded to the initial call for practice issued by Harris yesterday. Five are monogram men.

New recruits have virtually assured the junior college championship claims. Such men as Bob Wawter, who can reel off the mile at 4 minutes and 40 seconds; Charles Webber, high hurdle ace, Edward McHenry, San Juan Capistrano discus heaver, and Russell Kolk, fast Orange quarter-miler, are sure point winners.

Clayes was declared eligible for track by a ruling granted by Harris from the league coaches.

Because he has participated in only one track season, he is entitled to another year in junior college competition, according to the rules. The premier event that Clayes does is the 100-yard dash. In this he has been clocked in 10 seconds flat.

He also is a point smasher in the 220, the low hurdles, broad jump and shot put.

The squad will be put to its first test February 19 when a joint aggregation of the Santa Ana high school and junior college take on the Pomona freshmen at Claremont.

Santa Ana will be the hosts of the other conference members of the Southern California junior college league at the home oval March 27 for the championship meet. Hundreds of athletes from over the Southland will come here then.

Track fans here will be able to see the collegians in competition several times this season. Besides the conference meet, three other home contests have been arranged.

Here are the season's meets: February 27—A. A. U. meet at the Los Angeles Coliseum; March 6—Triangular meet: Santa Ana, Riverside and Pasadena, at Santa Ana; March 19—U. S. C. novice team here; March 27—Conference meet at Santa Ana; April 16—U. S. C. frosh at Los Angeles Coliseum.

Training, although interrupted by basketball, will be continued this month and next, in preparation for the meets.

TAYLOR, McLARNIN SCRAP IS TONIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Jimmy McLarnin, the Vancouver wonder, and Bud Taylor, Terre Haute featherweight, go to the post at Vernon tonight to settle, at least temporarily, a feud that has existed for almost a year.

Ever since Taylor came from behind in the final rounds of their first fight here last June and won the decision, McLarnin has wanted to beat him and beat him fairly.

When the pair of little "whirlwinds" clashed here for the second time a month ago, Jimmy thought he would have his chance, but the fight did not go two rounds. Taylor committed an unintentional foul in the second stanza and the scrap was stopped before either scraper had had a chance to open up.

INTERESTING LECTURE ON EDUCATION IS DELIVERED AT BEACH HIGH SCHOOL

By ANNA PICKERING

HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 12.—On Friday, January 12, the students were enjoyably entertained by Geoffrey Morgan, a noted lecturer. His speech was on "The Value of an Education." He said that education had three distinct values: Financial, social, cultural. He said you had to have it to work higher in the financial world, to get higher in the social world, and to get higher in the cultural world. He said that education was the only way to get ahead in the world. He said that education was the only way to get ahead in the world. He said that education was the only way to get ahead in the world.

In social you must have it so you can meet people as equals, not inferiors. It is said that we do not have aristocracy in America. It is true that we don't have the kind that Europe has, but we have the aristocracy of brains. He said that education was the only way to get ahead in the world. He said that education was the only way to get ahead in the world. He said that education was the only way to get ahead in the world.

Herbert Hoover is an excellent example of the aristocracy of brains. He got where he is today by using his brain, and not by his father's reputation. People have to be made inferiors, so they must have an education as a background. When you are learning history, literature, music and other subjects you are learning to make life.

When a man goes over to a desk in a bank and writes a check and gets his money it looks easy, so some one else tries it. He does not get any money for he has put none in.

You must put something in life to get something out of it. The picture of Shakespeare's home, Stratford-on-Avon, that is hanging up in our assembly may not look half so beautiful to some people as a forest scene, but to people who know what it is, it is a real masterpiece.

In the evening when you are listening to a concert on the radio you will listen to several pieces, then you will hear one that you have been learning, and its beauty will be greatly enhanced. If you knew all of them you would enjoy every number much more.

In a public commemoration of the victories of the Civil war, a child unable to read comes along and glances at it. It is merely a figure of a person. Another person that can read comes along and reads "Gettysburg" on it. He says, "Gettysburg, I wonder who that is?"

The statue means nothing to him. A high school senior comes along and realizes some of the beauty of that statue. A crippled old man comes along and realizes it to the full amount of its beauty, for he fought in the Civil war. He put more in it than any of the others and got more out of it. We will never be able to realize what Gettysburg means, as that man did, for we didn't put as much in it.

We kick about having to study our lessons, for the work is dry and difficult, but later in life we will be able to study it and understand it because we have a background.

A summing up of the speech shows the values of an education.

Financial—get the necessities of life.

Social—hold place among the educated people.

Cultural—understand and enjoy life.

Mr. Morgan for many years had been a chautauqua speaker, and is now with the Redpath bureau. He has visited schools in 41 states and has visited all of the schools of Southern California. He has paid him the high tribute of asking him to come again and again. The students of Huntington Beach considered this the best assembly of the year, for they were learning the values of an education in a very interesting way.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS.

New Year's day has rolled around again. One more year has been spent—in gain or in loss? Many have profited by it and probably just as many have lost. Death—grim and gruesome—has taken its toll. Many births have been recorded. Perhaps another Lincoln, another Bryant, or another Longfellow is among us and in the making. However that may be, it is an undeniable fact that the year is gone forever and cannot be recalled. They say that one should "turn over a new leaf" and begin anew. It's not a bad idea. It would stand trying, at least, and make the adventurer a better man or woman for it. "The blare of trumpets does not always herald a king," or, some such words as those were spoken truly and wisely by some one of wisdom! Nor do resolutions have to be put down in black and white.

The person to whom the resolution carries significance is he or she who does the actual resolving. "Your conscience is your guide," are words of wisdom. If you can't be true to yourself and carry your resolution in your heart and in your mind, then, you'd better not make any at all. If you are so weak-willed that you must write them down on a scroll of parchment paper, you have no character and ought to be placed in the careful hands of a gentle governess. The world is not a healthy resort for weaklings, whether mentally or bodily affected. You make resolutions (or should) to yourself, and they should be of you, by you, and for you, in applying to you and others. If you make good resolutions (as they ought to be) stick to them; don't let them be like china—easily broken. Make a man or woman of yourself and have a will-power of your own (mindful of bull-headedness). Have character. —By MYRTLE CLEMMER, Anaheim Union High School.

TWO BIRTHDAYS

Every man has two birthdays. One is that which he calls his. It passes, he reflecting nothing at all upon the matter and not understanding anything at all except cake and candles. But the birth of a new year is of an interest too wide not to be noticed by every one. No one ever regarded the first of January with indifference. It is that from which all date their time and count upon what is left. It is the time to turn over a new leaf and make resolutions.

THE COMING WOMEN

When 200 girl delegates attended the Girls' League Federation at the Polytechnic High school last week they gave us plenty of evidence that the future is safe in such hands as these.

It was a delightful convention of sweet, charming, sensible girls whose fine characters were obvious for all to note. And the fact that one of their main interests is to advocate good manners, good taste, and fine friendships shows that they are restricting their activities to personal responsibility.

"Good Manners, good taste, fine friendship"—these must, perforce indicate fine character for thus do fine characters ever express themselves. These are the sweet, true graces of life. These things are essential in the best conduct of social relations.

Good manners are the outcome of gracious, kindly interest. Good taste is sense of the fitness of things, taboos, ostentation, gaudy extravagance, excesses, extremes. And fine friendships are the most precious things in life, entailing sympathy, understanding, loyalty abiding love.

If these are flappers—God send us flappers.—Los Angeles Times.

Morgue Started At Tustin H. S.

By Journalists

By CHARLOTTE MOULTON

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 12.—Many questions and exclamations were heard in the journalism room when Miss Hield announced that the staff was to start a morgue.

In explanation of the morgue Miss Hield said that it was really a reference library in which would be kept in sections all cartoons, poetry, feature stories, etc., relating to certain topics, as well as material about men prominent along lines of politics, literature, and science. The class has started with the holidays, that is, all the material pertaining to Thanksgiving is put in one section, that in reference to Christmas in another, etc.

The purpose of this morgue is to enable future journalists to get new ideas for their papers.

Clean sportsmanship was shown throughout both of the games. The local high school student body is proud of the manner in which the members of their team played. Muns and Messers started for the scene on the "A" team. Fulson and Collins tied for point man on the "B" team.

Department Of Music At Tustin Has High Ideals

By JOSEPHINE ROY.

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 12.—To promote interest in good music, make use of talent and to add to the social life of its members, has been the aim of the music department throughout the year.

The course of study in the class of history and appreciation of music has been much the same as in previous years. With the aid of the textbook "Outlines of Music History" by Clarence G. Hamilton, the history of music and the lives of famous composers have been studied. Further interest has been promoted by clippings taken from newspapers and magazines dealing with the development of music of the day.

As in former years, the class will again enter the Orange county music memory contest. Selections have been chosen and as soon as the lists have been examined and typewritten, members of the class will begin to memorize and study the selections together with the composers in preparation for the contest to be held in April.

The work of both the boys' and girls' Glee clubs has been much the same as in former years consisting of several programs and entertainments given at the school. Work will soon begin on the opera "Pirates," to be given in the spring. Much time has also been devoted to the training of voices in both glee clubs and the vocal classes.

Observers have stated that the orchestra has also gained much prominence as an active unit of the high school. Several new instruments have been purchased by the school for the use of the students at home or in the class rooms. Plans are being completed for an entertainment to be given by the orchestra in assembly at which time talented members of the orchestra will take part in solos, duets and quartets.

P.-T.A. WOMEN ARE GUESTS AT GROVE SCHOOL

By MABEL JONES AND ALMA SHACKELFORD

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 12.—Last Friday Garden Grove high school and grammar school P.-T.A. members entertained delegates to the Fourth District convention of the Parent-Teachers association at the local grammar school.

The entire program was centered about the question of international education and peace. Mrs. J. Edmond Snow, of Santa Ana, presided over the meeting during the day's session.

Miss Jennie B. Lashy, of the Santa Ana junior college, told of the first International Educational convention at Edinburgh, Scotland. She related statements made by foreign delegates to that convention regarding the United States' educational systems. According to those statements, the American schools are far from perfect.

Shortly before the noon recess, district reports were given by P.-T.A. presidents from Westminster, Tustin, Villa Park, Seal Beach, Orange, San Juan Capistrano, Laguna, Garden Grove, Fullerton and La Habra.

After an appetizing dinner, the women returned to the auditorium for the afternoon session.

During the afternoon nominees were chosen for election in April. Mrs. J. V. Kelsey, of Garden Grove, and Mrs. S. W. Stanley, of Tustin, were nominated for the presidency.

Mrs. H. L. Backs, of Anaheim, was chosen as vice president. The nominees for secretaries were: Corresponding secretary, Mrs. Preble and Mrs. Pollard; financial secretary, Mrs. Douglas and Mrs. Bungee; recording secretary, Mrs. Benson and Mrs. Swinefest.

Miss Shark and Miss Watson, both junior college teachers, spoke for a short time on "Fellowship of Youth Movement for World Peace." Two piano numbers were given. Mrs. F. O. McCulloch, the tenth district president, gave two well-received addresses.

Two beautiful bouquets were presented, on behalf of the P.-T.A. by Mrs. H. H. Pollard, of Garden Grove, to Mrs. McCulloch and the fourth district president, Mrs. J. Edmond Snow.

Excelsior Hoopers Win from H. B. Five

HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 12.—Wednesday the local class B squad received a beating from the Excelsior High's team. The first half was almost totally barren of any scoring, only five points were made, and by Excelsior.

In the third quarter the local lads speeded up and very nearly upset the leader's high score. The final score was 21-17. Watson and Gillespie did most of the scoring

Rodent Draws Much Interest At H. B. School

By HOWARD BOULD

HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 12.—A very exclusive member of the huge family commonly known as Rat was escorted, or rather mysteriously appeared, on the Huntington Beach high school campus, Wednesday, January 6.

He created quite a sensation among the boys while they were engaging in the refreshment called lunch, but the girls enjoyed him MUCH more when the boys ordered Mr. Rat, with a string tied to his tail, to march through the hall just before the afternoon classes.

After many had fled, shrieked and laughed, Mr. Davidson, instead of bidding him go his way, (as he usually does, a gentleman), put our friend, Mr. Rat, beyond his worldly cares.

"Gee, it sure was awful to get up early this morning. I sure hated it."

"Hello! Alice. What'd you get for Christmas? Oh, isn't that darling?"

"Look at all the sweaters. Did you ever see so many before?"

"I bet nearly every kid in school got one for Christmas."

"Look at that one. I believe it has all the colors of the rainbow."

"Hi, Bill, have a swell vacation?"

"Sure did. Did you?"

"Yeah, I certainly did. I wish we hadn't had to come back for three weeks more."

"So do I. It's the same old routine, over and over again."

"I've forgotten all I ever knew. Didn't know much."

"I was kind of tired of vacation, though."

"I was too. I like to get back and see all the kids again. Don't you?"

"Hey, you Junior, did you bring the money for your ring? You did? That's good."

As the warning bell rang the boys and girls all rushed to their lockers and classrooms. Then all was quiet until the end of first period. Similar conversation was heard at the end of each period, but at the end of sixth period a different tone of conversation was heard.

"Gee, I sure was dumb, all day long, didn't know a thing."

"Thank goodness, this day is over. I didn't mind it so much though."

Tustin Seniors Enjoy Outing On Mountain Top

By BETTY PALMER.

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 12.—At 4 o'clock, Saturday morning, January 9, 16 of the 26 seniors of Tustin union high school and two faculty members "piled" into the Packard bus and left for Mt. Wilson on the regular first semester outing.

The hikers started up the trail from the Sierra Madre at 6:30 o'clock. Some pushed on ahead and reached the top of the mountain in two hours and 45 minutes, walking time. Others plodded over the steep, rocky trail and arrived at the summit two hours later.

At the top, two huge logs, close together, furnished a lounge on which to eat. After lunch, Echo Rock was visited and an extended stop made until time for the opening of the museum and the observatory. The students marveled at the size and working of the largest telescope in the world and soon after, started down the trail. Time taken for the downward journey varied from one to two and a half hours.

One feature of the hike was the theft of nine sweaters and three caps from the side of the trail where they had been shed when they became unbearably hot. In spite of the loss, the trip was deemed to be the best ever taken by the class of 1926.

Those making the trip were: Miss Yocum, class advisor, and Mr. Means, principal; Ruth Brown, Charles Crafts, Charlie Thorman, Lon McIntire, Leota Sears, Gladys Summers, Frances Dunstan, Ronald Merrick, Garland Ferrell, Lydia Field, Don Park, Richard Harris, Everett Smith, Graeme Smith, Albert Farnsworth, Elizabeth Palmer.

Russian Woman Is Speaker At Tustin Assembly

By BETTY PALMER

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 12.—"I don't plead for Russia, but for your own country," said Grity de Ropp, formerly a countess in Russia, in a speech given at Tustin, Thursday, Dec. 31, after she had pictured the utter lack of opportunity in Russia and warned the student body of Tustin high school against Red propaganda in America.

"Those people who have to turn down Russia are trying to do the same to America," she said.

The students applauded particularly when, in closing, Madame de Ropp expressed her loyalty and gratitude to America for the protection and opportunity it has given her.

STUDENTS FIND DIFFICULTY IN STARTING WORK

Huntington Beach Scholars Have Many Comments to Make on Class Work

By VIRGINIA WARD

HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 12.—After three weeks of blissful lazy vacation, without any studies to prepare, school started again.

At the Huntington Beach Union High school and at other schools in the county, school opened Monday, January 4.

Roaming around the halls one would hear practically the same conversation.

"Gee, it sure was awful to get up early this morning. I sure hated it."

"Hello! Alice. What'd you get for Christmas? Oh, isn't that darling?"

Fullerton Boys Form Swim Club

By DARREL MCGAVRAN

FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 12.—The swimming season started in earnest just before Christmas when Coach Dowden formed his swimming club, which is to be the nucleus of the swimming team. The boys meet five times a week after school.

Coach Dowden reports that more than 30 boys have enlisted. He is teaching them the more advanced strokes, fancy diving and life saving.

After the boys have finished their course in Life Saving they will pass an examination which will entitle them to a diploma and the ensignia of the Red Cross Life Saving crew.

Everybody's character would be greatly altered and improved; people would not lose their tempers, fight, or quarrel any more. They wouldn't break laws, and there would be no necessity for jails.

Dentists would be out of business in another quarter of a century, for all the children of the present generation would "brush their teeth at least once a day." Many among the present population would become "slender as a will o' the wisp" and food consumption in this world would greatly lessen.

Most little boys would change their complexion—especially behind the ears—until they looked like members of a different race.

In school, relations would be entirely changed; the teachers would give short, reasonable assignments—and the pupils would come to class with three times as much work done as assigned.

There would be more musicians in the world for children would be practicing their music even longer than the time required.

More amateur cooks would make their debut with nice soft cakes, instead of hard ones. People would save their money, stay home more, see fewer picture shows, and eat less candy—if only resolutions were resolutions.

But the world and its inhabitants have remained practically unchanged although New Year's day has already come and gone and many resolutions have been made—all because there is a vast difference between the two words; resolutions and revolutions.

First: There is the difference between S and a V in their spelling.

Second: Revolutions deal with action and resolutions with words. (No two things farther apart—in most cases).

Third: A revolution is a com-

Speculation Is Rife At Beach Over Odd Notice

By LOUISE WARDLOW.

HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 12.—"Well, what in the world!"

Thus issued various wondering remarks from the crowd gathered in front of the bulletin board.

The cause of the wonderment was plain. On a large gray placard, were the following words: "Supply the Missing Letter." Underneath this heading were four sentences with the first letter missing:

"—an you guess it?"

"—sk the Seniors."

"—se your thinking cap."

"—title by little you'll see."

Every day curious students will wander to the bulletin board to wonder what the newest sentence is about, as a new curiosity-catcher appears every day.

Some students think they have already guessed it, but most of them are wondering and whispering among themselves, "What is it? What's it for?" Speculation is rife at H. B. H. S.

HOCKEY DRAWS INTEREST OF ANAHEIM GIRLS

By MILDRED LATOURETTE

ANAHEIM UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 12.—The girls' basketball season has come to a close at the Anaheim High school, and the girls have started to play hockey.

Hockey is a new game, just started recently among the Orange county high schools, although Santa Ana has played several years. This is Anaheim's third year, Fullerton's second year and Orange also hopes to have a hockey team this year.

These are the only schools in Orange county who play hockey, but outside games are usually arranged with Riverside, Pasadena and Long Beach.

Field hockey is similar to ice hockey; it is played with a team consisting of 11 players, five forwards, whose duty it is to carry the ball to the opponent's goal and to make the scores; three half-backs, who keep the ball from the opponent's forwards and pass it to their forward line, two fullbacks, who help defend the goal and keep the ball out of the opponent's territory, a goalkeeper whose duty it is to defend the goal.

Hockey is a good wholesome game but it requires hard practice and knowledge of the game to be able to have a real good team which can work together in passing the ball down the field to their goal.

Although hockey is a new sport it

Jewelry Store

Sold by Smith

E. Hawley Gun store, on the north side of Fourth street, between Sycamore and Broadway.

He enlarged his activities by the move and in subsequent changes of locations increased his stock and his business. He has been located at 113 West Fourth street for the last seven years, to which address he moved from the room now occupied by the Santa Ana book store.

Straightforward business practices and merchandise of quality as represented have been factors contributing to the confidence in which the Smith jewelry store is held by the general public of Santa Ana, and Smith retires from his activity with the satisfaction of knowing that in his long years of catering to the jewelry needs of the community he has given his patrons full value in service and merchandise.

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 12.—The Riverside county board of supervisors has passed a so-called "B" ordinance, which prohibits the dumping of tubercular dairy cattle within the county. The ordinance is patterned after the Los Angeles county statute.

EVENING SALUTATION

How many happy months are swept beneath the silent wing of Time, and leave no name nor record in our hearts! Sweet moments of quietness and affection, glad hours of joy and hope, days, —yea, many days—begun and ended in health and happiness, times and seasons of Heaven's gracious beneficence, stand before us yet again in the light of memory, and command us to be thankful, and to prize as we ought the gift of life.

PRISONERS OUTDOORS

Colorado seems to combine with remarkable success two supposedly opposite methods of handling criminals. She "coddles" them, and she makes them work. She entertains and educates them in prison, she gives them good medical attention, she puts them on the honor system in outside work—and she has 4,000 miles of roads built by them, not to mention their constructive activities in farming, building and factory work.

Thomas J. Tynan, who has been warden of the state penitentiary for 16 years, points proudly to the economic success, health success and moral success of his policies. His basic principle is "Get 'em out in the open. Prison conditions are not normal—and 60 per cent of the prisoners are."

Many prisoners in Colorado are tubercular. They in particular need fresh air and sunshine. But whatever the disease, it is given good medical attention.

The minds of the convicts are looked after as well as their bodies. There are graded school classes with an attendance of 300 a day. Correspondence school courses are encouraged.

For all, there is as much outdoors as possible. And instead of aimless exercising, there is constructive work. Gangs, working unguarded, build health along with roads. The average prisoner gains 30 to 50 pounds during his term.

As for mental progress, there is the man who entered the prison as an illiterate boy of 14, to serve a life term for murder, and who while in prison trained himself as an architect and designed the modern administration building now in use.

Most penal institutions fail because they do not look after the prisoners' health intelligently and do not keep bodies and minds wholesome occupied. So society loses doubly, when it might break about even by reconstructing wrong-doers through constructive work.

BUMPS IN THE ROAD

Some of the state highway departments are beginning to fine contractors for leaving bumps in a paving job. One state deducts, from the money due the contractor, the price of one square yard of paving for every variation from the level of more than one-quarter of an inch in 10 feet of concrete road. The irregularities are measured by a "profilometer" run over the finished strip of roadway.

There may be anywhere from one to a couple of hundred such spots found in a mile. They may seem too small to bother about, but they all detract from smooth riding, and every driver knows how an apparently insignificant obstacle sometimes gives a shock out of all proportion to its size. The worst spots, however, may be not small elevations or holes but smooth, rolling bumps.

The whole subject of bumps needs to be studied scientifically, and the resulting discoveries applied in road-making, especially by repair gangs.

Taking the country over there is an amazing amount of blundering in road work, apparently because repair men gauge the effect of any particular irregularity by the way it looks to a pedestrian, or by the way it would affect a slow vehicle, rather than by its demonstrable effect on a rapid-moving automobile. As a result, there are spots on many roads where 10,000 drivers a day curse the men responsible for that senseless bit of paving.

This is a matter in which road engineers and automotive engineers should get together and lay down a few simple rules for the observance of construction and repair gangs, with perhaps a simple outfit of instruments to test the surface as they go along.

FEATHER CLOTH NEXT

Discussing fur coats and their expensiveness, and the threatened extinction of fur-bearing animals, a citizen remarked the other day:

"I wonder why they don't make feather coats—weave the feathers into some sort of thick, soft cloth, resembling fur. That would be light, warm and beautiful. And there are plenty of feathers."

"There's good American precedent for it, too. The Mound Builders were doing it a couple of thousand years ago. Cloth evidently made by weaving feathers, stripped from the quills, has been found in an old mound in Ohio."

Picking up a newspaper next day, the same citizen read:

"London and Paris shortly will see an entirely new fabric, created by a noted London designer. Its exact composition has been kept a secret; but it is known that ostrich feathers, plucked from the quills and especially treated and woven, are the basis of it. The cloth is lighter than thistle-down and softer than crepe de chine."

Talk about service! That should make a bird of a dress or coat. We may all be wearing the stuff soon. Or at least, the women of us. And it isn't necessary to stick to ostrich feathers, with so many chickens and geese ready for the sacrifice.

SEA WINDOW FOR BOLIVIA

Chile and Peru continue scrapping about the possession of Tacna and Arica, to the embarrassment of General Pershing and the United States government, and will probably continue doing so whatever the outcome of the present situation.

What is wanted there is a settlement that will settle, and apparently a plebiscite just now is not likely to accomplish that purpose. Nobody wants to see another Alsace-Lorraine, in this hemisphere, upsetting the peace of South America and dragging the United States into the mess.

There would be a simple way out, if the two disputants were at all inclined to be reasonable. Neither Peru nor Chile has a clear right to the territory. Chile grabbed it from Peru in 1880, with Bolivia claiming part of it. Peru originally grabbed a large chunk from Bolivia.

Of the three countries, Bolivia has at least as good a right to it as either of her neighbors. Naturally it should be hers. She needs a "window on the sea" as much as Poland or Czechoslovakia. Peru and Chile have more seacoast than they know what to do with anyway, and plenty of territory and resources.

If the Tacna-Arica region were divided equally between those two quarrelling neighbors, they would keep right on shaking their fists at each other across the new border.

The suggestion has been made in this country that the disputed region, or a generous strip of it between Bolivia and the Pacific, be given to Bolivia, thus doing her justice, giving her an economic chance and providing a buffer between Peru and Chile. It looks like an admirable solution. Possibly the United States, with the co-operation of Brazil and Argentina, could put it over by diplomacy.

Money talks, but not very loud when there's no gold reserve back of it.

Flood Control World Need

Pasadena Star-News

Why not call science into a world conference and direct its genius toward saving the world from floods? It is all right to hold disarmament conferences and to promote peace moves. But should not the nations of the world also combine—at least in sentiment—to disarm floods?

Here in Europe scourged, over wide areas, with one of the most disastrous floods ever experienced there—rather, a series of floods. Why should not attention be turned from militarism and preparedness for war, to the control of floods? The Seine, the Rhine and other rivers which come careering down from mountains, wreaking havoc along their respective courses, could be tamed and made innocuous. A series of dams would hold back the floods. Water thus impounded could be used to advantage. There could be development of vast power from flood control systems in Europe as well as in America.

To add to the horror of flood news, Mexico reports disastrous inundations, with hundreds of lives lost and with great property loss. The United States may have disasters of similar nature before the winter ends. Even California may have its destructive visitations. Truth is, control of floods has become one of the vital problems of civilized lands. Floods are too costly to tolerate. It would be less expensive, in the long run, to provide scientifically for their control.

Peter Pan Towns

Oakland Tribune

The year just closed was a "red-letter" one, it is said, for Carmel. Progress was registered there with a big "P." According to the despatch, "during 1925 business firms increased 25 per cent, as shown by license collections. Post office receipts were the largest in the history of the local office; water, light and telephone services were extensively installed; the school attendance was the largest of any year in the city's growth, and to meet this increase in pupils a new grammar school was erected on the school grounds on San Carlos street."

And the record is made still further impressive by citing the building permits, which mounted nearly to the half-million dollar mark.

All these are standard measures in gauging progress for the average community, but no doubt there still are many Carmels who like them not. To such, better far the rustic solitude of old. Better far the quiet life under the saucy pines, where dreams may be dreamt, not in marble halls, but in vine-covered cots of quaint simplicity, surrounded by moss-grown fences and dusty roads.

Here and there in America we have our Peter Pan towns that do not want to "grow up." Carmel is one of them. And many there be who, living in the jingle-jangle of blustering Progress, deeply sympathize with her frustrated aims.

HOW ADRENALIN MAY SAVE LIFE

Adrenalin is not a new drug as many people believe. The properties of adrenalin have been known for at least 50 years and have been applied for at least a quarter of a century. Certain physicians have lately achieved rather sensational successes by using it as a revivifying agent, especially to bring to life babies that were apparently born dead. It may surprise you to learn that adrenalin was discovered in 1886 by a French physiologist and chemist named Vulpain.

The suprarenal gland is a ductless gland found in human beings and certain animals. Its function has come to be particularly well understood only within the past few years. This gland secretes adrenalin which is a great stimulant and serves to contract the arteries and increase the blood pressure.

If your brain is informed that some great danger is threatening your body or if it registers fear by means of those swift and sure carriers, the nerves, the impulse is at once transferred to the suprarenal glands and they are called upon to discharge their substance into the blood current to energize and stimulate the muscles into action.

The emotion of anger results in increased activity on the part of these glands and this is why doctors tell those suffering from high blood pressure not to become angry. Anger increases the secretion of adrenalin. The increased secretion of adrenalin increases the blood pressure. This also explains in part, the great strength oftentimes found among the insane.

Today there are two methods of preparing adrenalin. The drug may be extracted from the suprarenal glands of sheep or oxen. In this process, the glands are disintegrated with water containing a little muriatic or acetic acid and the extract is obtained.

Experimentation in the use of adrenalin has developed what is now widely known in dentistry as bloodless surgery employed also in certain operations on the nose and throat. A recent use of adrenalin is perhaps the most startling of all the applications of this powerful drug. It has been injected into the muscles of the heart. Apparently a heart which has ceased to beat, especially in the case of a new born baby, stimulated by adrenalin may begin beating again and a life may be saved.

You know the heart is a powerful organ, one of the strongest, if not the strongest muscle in the body. The heart may be stimulated through the use of this drug and a flow of blood through the body produced.

Adrenalin also is used in operations on the eye, nose and throat or where it is desirable to avoid an excessive flow of blood. It is used by some of our most skillful dental surgeons. When adrenalin is injected, the blood is driven away from the bleeding parts, the blood vessels are contracted and the profuse flow of blood is stopped. Adrenalin also possesses some anesthetic properties.

And That's That

The Children's Poet

Pasadena Star-News

Eugene Field, dead and turning to dust, left for thirty years to repose in an obscure grave, is to have suitable interment beneath an imposing shrine in the cloister of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Comforter, Kenilworth, Chicago. Impressive memorial services will be held at the time of permanent interment.

Whatever his faults and frailties in life—and he perhaps was his own worst enemy—Eugene Field was right, at heart. He must have been. No man could have written so sweetly, sympathetically and tenderly as he did, of and for children, had he not had a strain of nobility in his character.

Who has not been swayed in feeling by the delicious tenderness of Eugene Field? Who has not taken the wings of fancy and with "Wynken, Blynken and Nod one night"—

"Sailed off in a wooden shoe—
Sailed on a river of crystal light
Into a sea of dew?"

And who has not brought back vivid memories of childhood by these lines:

"The fire upon the hearth is low,
And there is stillness everywhere,
And, like winged spirits, here and there
The firelight shadows fluttering go."

And that touchingly sweet "Little Boy Blue"—the tears have come to multitudes, in reading or hearing these lines:

"The little toy-dog is covered with dust
But sturdy and staunch he stands;
And the little toy-soldier is red with rust
And his musket moulds in his hands;
Time was when the little toy-dog was new,
And the soldier was passing fair;
And that was the time when our Little Boy Blue
Kissed them and put them there."

Yes, give Eugene Field honored burial and a memorial shrine. He earned them. He immortalized himself with the children and with all those who love children.

Worth While Verse

THE SHELL

And then I pressed the shell
Close to my ear
And listened well,
And straightway like a bell
Came low and clear
The slow, sad murmur of distant seas,
Whipped by an icy breeze
Upon a shore
Wind-swept and desolate.
It was a sunless strand that never bore
The footprints of a man,
Nor felt the weight
Since time began
Of any human quality or stir
Save what the dreary winds and waves incur.
And in the hush of waters was the sound
Of pebbles rolling round.
Forever rolling with a hollow sound.
And bubbling seaweeds as the water go,
Swish to and fro
Their long cold tentacles of slimy grey.
There was no day,
Nor even came a night
Setting the stars alight
To wonder at the moon:
Was twilight only and the frightened croon,
Smitten to whimpers, of the dreary wind
And waves that journeyed blind—
And then I loosed my ear . . . O, it was sweet
To hear a cart go jolting down the street.

—James Stephens.

Hopeful View on Rain

Riverside Press.

Col. Hersey, who is in charge of the weather bureau office in Los Angeles, takes a very optimistic view of the prospects for rain this winter. The following interview with him appears in the Los Angeles Examiner:

"Unless the records and traditions of fifty years are upset this will be a wet winter."

"Col. H. B. Hersey, government weather expert, is placing his bets that there will be plenty of rain, because—"

"Records going back over fifty years show that Southern California never has experienced more than three dry seasons in succession. Three dry seasons, and then a wet, wet winter."

"The last three seasons have been dry. Therefore, although the rainfall so far is below normal and although it does sound more or less like a hunch, Colonel Hersey will not be at all surprised if January, February and March provide a lot of rain."

"Plenty of rain will mean not only good crops this year, but better crops next year, when the underground water levels are raised."

"This is the second time in the Los Angeles weather bureau's history that Southern California has had three dry years."

"In the season of 1897-1898 the rainfall was 7.06 inches; in 1898-1899, 5.59 inches, and in 1899-1900, 7.91 inches. The next season was very wet."

"In the season of 1922-1923 the rainfall was 9.53 inches; in 1923-1924, 9.67 inches; in 1924-1925, 7.84 inches."

"Up to this time last year the rainfall was 2.87 inches. This year, so far, there has been exactly one inch more; 3.87 inches. The normal rainfall up to this date should be 5.21 inches."

"January, February and March are, by all the rules, the wettest months of the year."

"This year's rainfall has been well distributed. The agricultural country inland has received its share. Farther south records have been broken."

"In a three-day rain in October San Diego received more moisture than ever before during all October and November."

"Of course, to set real rain records it would have to rain fairly steadily from now until summer starts."

"The season of 1883-1884 was the prize winner for storms. Southern California received more than 38 inches of rain between July 1, 1883, and June 30, 1884."

"The season of 1889-1890 was runner-up with slightly less than 35 inches. In 1892-1893 the record was more than 28 inches, and 23 inches in 1913-1914."

The Press has rainfall records for Riverside covering 45 years, and it is true here as in Los Angeles, that during that period we have never had more than three consecutive years of light rainfall. According to the law of probabilities, therefore, we ought to have a wet winter; but the trouble with the weather is that it frequently disregards the law of probabilities; and we might have a four or a five year period of light rainfall. Frankly it does not act very much like a wet winter as yet but we should hope for the best. January is the crucial month; and we ought to have at least two inches of rain this month to give reasonable promise of even a winter of average rainfall. Very rarely do we have a greater amount of rain after February 1 than before that date."

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Off to the Land of Hidy Go went the Twins, after telling Nora not to forget to put crumbs out every morning for the birds, in case they were away from home.

Nora thought they had "one of their notions" again, as she called them. But she promised.

The Twins slipped into the magic shoes, and this time, instead of being whisked of through the air, they felt themselves sinking right down through the ground.

It was like being in an elevator that was going down very, very swiftly past floors, and floors and floors in a high building. It made you feel queer in your stomach just at first, and a bit dizzy, too.

But she and Nick kept on falling, and after a while they got accustomed to it.

Indeed, they began to talk to each other. Nancy found herself saying to Nick, "It is going to be hard to get back. I hope there won't be stairs to climb."

"If there are," laughed Nick, "there wouldn't be enough numbers in the arithmetic book to count them. We must be down a mile now."

Suddenly they noticed that they had company. Another person was falling right beside them. Easily, gracefully, comfortably falling, and taking all quite for granted.

"How do you do?" said Nick. "What's that? What's that?" asked their companion, putting an enormous ear-trumpet up to his ear like a telephone receiver. "Just what did you say?"

"I just said how do you do," answered Nick.

The little man put his ear-trumpet back into his pocket. "It's no use," he muttered. "I hear much better without it."

"Now once again, will you please say it all over again," he remarked, putting his hand behind his ear. He had on an enormous pair of goggles which gave him an owl's look, and under his arm he carried a huge bundle.

"I said how do you do," said Nick again politely.

"Oh, how am I? Is that it?" remarked the queer little man. "Well, it's a long story. But as we have five more miles to go before we reach Hidy Go Land, I'll have time to tell you, I suppose. Are you going to Hidy Go Land?"

"Yes," said Nick. "We both are."

"Both," remarked the man. "Is there another of you? I can't see. Just wait until I take off these pesky goggles."

And off they came and went into his other pocket. "Now I can see and hear," he exclaimed. "Oh yes, there you are, little girl! Glad to have you both for company, I'm sure. I always hate to take this long fall alone. It wouldn't be so bad if you had windows to look out and see the country."

"But you asked me how I was and I'll have to tell you. You didn't ask who I was, but I'll tell you that anyway. I'm Mister Havalook, the King of Hidy Go Land. Yes, I'm a king, but just call me 'Mister.' I've been up getting my laundry. I have it here in this bundle. I'm having trouble with my subjects and they won't do my washing."

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Nancy. "That's too bad. It's always so hard to let it get two weeks ahead. Mother says. Perhaps I can do it for you," she offered. "I know how to do up doll clothes, but I'm not much good at starching."

"Most kind, I'm sure," remarked Mister Havalook. "Perhaps I shall accept your offer. But I haven't told you how I am yet. I'm quite well, thank you, but worried."
